1 VIRTUE, MORALITY, CHARACTER AND THE SUPREME LAW...

”A strict observance of the written laws is doubtless one of the high duties of a good citizen, but it is not the highest. The laws of necessity, of self-preservation, of saving our country when in danger, are of a higher obligation ... To lose our country by a scrupulous adherence to written law would be to lose the law itself, with life, liberty, property and all those who are enjoying them with us; thus absurdly sacrificing the ends to the means.”

[Thomas Jefferson to John B. Colvin, September 20, A. D. 1810]

“A thing moderately good is not so good as it ought to be. Moderation in temper is always a virtue, but moderation in principle is always a vice.”

[Thomas Paine, The Rights of Man (1791)]

"Most people prefer to believe that their leaders are just and fair, even in the face of evidence to the contrary, because once a citizen acknowledges that the government under which he lives is lying and corrupt, the citizen has to choose what he or she will do about it. To take action in the face of corrupt government entails risks of harm to life and loved ones. To choose to do nothing is to surrender one's self-image of standing for principles. Most people do not have the courage to face that choice. Hence, most propaganda is not designed to fool the critical thinker but only to give moral cowards an excuse not to think at all."

[Michael Rivero (1952 -) Composer, production engineer]

“It is not the critic who counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause; who, at best, knows the triumph of high achievement, and who, at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.”

[Theodore Roosevelt, April 23, 1917]

“By the blessing of God, may our country become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of wisdom, of peace, and of liberty upon which the world may gaze with admiration forever.”

[First Bunker Hill Oration, Daniel Webster [inscribed on a bronze plaque on the quarterdeck of the USS Bunker Hill, CG-52]

“[T]he [federal] government . . . can never be in danger of degenerating into a monarchy, and oligarchy, an aristocracy, or any other despotic or oppressive form so long as there shall remain any virtue in the body of the people. “

[George Washington, The Writings of George Washington, John C. Fitzpatrick, editor (Washington: U. S. Government Printing Office, 1939), Vol. XXIX, p. 410. In a letter to Marquis De Lafayette, February 7, 1788]

“It is certainly true that a popular government cannot flourish without virtue in the people.”

[Richard Henry Lee, The Letters of Richard Henry Lee, James Curtis Ballagh, editor (New York: The MacMillan Company, 1914), Vol. II, p. 411. In a letter to Colonel Mortin Pickett on March 5, 1786]

“Without morals a republic cannot subsist any length of time; they therefore who are decrying the Christian religion, whose morality is so sublime & pure, [and] which denounces against the wicked eternal misery, and [which] insured to the good eternal happiness, are undermining the solid foundation of morals, the best security for the duration of free governments.”

[Bernard C. Steiner, The Life and Correspondence of James McHenry (Cleveland: The Burrows Brothers, 1907), p. 475. In a letter from Charles Carroll to James McHenry of November 4, 1800.]

“Give up money, give up fame, give up science, give the earth itself and all it contains rather than do an immoral act. And never suppose that in any possible situation, or under any circumstances, it is best for your to do a dishonorable thing, however slightly so it may appear to you. Whenever you are to do a thing, though it can never be known but to yourself, ask yourself how you would act were all the world looking at you, and act accordingly. Encourage all you virtuous dispositions, and exercise them whenever an opportunity arises, being assured that they will gain strength by exercise, as a limb of the body does, and that exercise will make them habitual. From the practice of the purest virtue, you may be assured you will derive the most sublime comforts in every moment of life, and in the moment of death.”

1 [Thomas Jefferson, The Writings of Thomas Jefferson, Albert Bergh, editor (Washington, D.C.: Thomas Jefferson Memorial
2 Assoc., 1903), Vol. 5, pp. 82-83, in a letter to his nephew Peter Carr on August 19, 1785]

5 towards men is a branch of true religion, for he is not a godly man that is not honest, nor can he expect that his devotion

11 there is no sin in that which there is money to be got by, and, while it passes undiscovered, they cannot blame
12 themselves for it; a blot is no blot till it is hit, Hos. 12:7, 8. But they are not the less an abomination to God, who will 13 be the avenger of those that are defrauded by their brethren. 2. Nothing is more pleasing to God than fair and honest

28 "If you think of yourselves as helpless and ineffectual, it is certain that you will create a despotic government to be your

32 "Altruism does not mean mere kindness or generosity, but the sacrifice of the best among men to the worst, the sacrifice of 33 virtues to flaws, of ability to incompetence, of progress to stagnation--and the subordinating of all life and of all values to the 34 claims of anyone's suffering."

35 [Ayn Rand]

40 to attempt to repeal a part of it, and it is impossible to abolish it entirely. We cannot be freed from its obligations by Senate
41 or People, and we need not look outside ourselves for an expounder or interpreter of it. And there will not be different laws
42 at Rome and at Athens, or different laws now and in the future, but one eternal and unchangeable law will be valid for all

9 EQUIVOCATION, n. Ambiguity of speech; the use of words or expressions that are susceptible of a double signification.
10 Hypocrites are often guilty of equivocation, and by this means lose the confidence of their fellow men. Equivocation is

14 Equivocation ("to call by the same name") is an informal logical fallacy. It is the misleading use of a term with more than 15 one meaning or sense (by glossing over which meaning is intended at a particular time). It generally occurs with polysemic
16 words (words with multiple meanings).

17 Albeit in common parlance it is used in a variety of contexts, when discussed as a fallacy, equivocation only occurs when the 18 arguer makes a word or phrase employed in two (or more) different senses in an argument appear to have the same meaning 19 throughout.

20 It is therefore distinct from (semantic) ambiguity, which means that the context doesn't make the meaning of the word or 21 phrase clear, and amphiboly (or syntactical ambiguity), which refers to ambiguous sentence structure due to punctuation or 22 syntax.

35 The vigilant protection of constitutional freedoms is nowhere more vital than in the community of American schools. "By 36 limiting the power of the States to interfere with freedom of speech and freedom of inquiry and freedom of association, the 37 Fourteenth Amendment protects all persons, no matter what their calling. But, in view of the nature of the teacher's relation
38 to the effective exercise of the rights which are safeguarded by the Bill of Rights and by the Fourteenth Amendment, inhibition
39 of freedom of thought, and of action upon thought, in the case of teachers brings the safeguards of those amendments vividly
40 into operation. Such unwarranted inhibition upon the free spirit of teachers . . . has an unmistakable tendency to chill that free

31 III.

32 The final question is whether the Government's action constituted a "taking" of petitioners' property interests
33 within the meaning of the Fifth Amendment. Before the United States compelled Rice to transfer the hulls and all
34 materials held for future use in building the boats, petitioners had valid liens under Maine law against both the hulls
35 and whatever unused materials which petitioners had furnished. Before transfer these liens were enforceable by 36 attachment against both the hulls and all materials. After transfer to the United States the liens were still valid,
37 United States v. Alabama, 313 U.S. 274, 281-282, but they could not be enforced because of the sovereign immunity of 38 the Government and its property from suit.[4]The result of this was a destruction of all petitioners' property rights
39 under their liens, although, as we have pointed out, the liens were valid and had compensable value. Petitioners
40 contend that destruction of 47*47 their liens under the circumstances here is a "taking." The United States denies 41 this, largely on the premise that inability of petitioners to enforce their liens because of immunity of the Government 42 and its property from suit cannot amount to a "taking."

43 The Government argues that the Ansonia case is dispositive of this Fifth Amendment issue. In that case, the contract
44 between the shipbuilder and the United States provided, as to one of the ships contracted for, the dredge Benyuard, that as 45 progress payments were made, the portion of the work paid for should become the property of the United States.
46 Subcontractors claimed liens on the uncompleted vessel under the Virginia supply-lien law. This Court merely held that, as 47 the property had passed to the United States by virtue of the terms of the contract, no lien could be enforced against it. No
48 question was raised as to the rights possessed by the subcontractors prior to the acquisition of title by the United States nor 49 as to whether that event entitled them to just compensation under the Fifth Amendment. There is, to be sure, reason to

1 believe that the subcontractors' liens in that case, like those of petitioners here, did attach as soon as materials were
2 furnished, which would necessarily be prior to the making of a progress payment for the portion of the work incorporating
3 those materials and the consequent passage of title to the United States. See Hawes & Co. v. Trigg Co., 110 Va. 165, 185-
4 186, 199, 65 S. E. 538, 546-547, 551-552. But the Fifth Amendment question was not raised or passed upon. In these 5 circumstances we cannot regard the court's decision as dispositive on the precise point now under consideration, and must
6 proceed to decide that question.^[5]

7 48*48 We hold that there was a taking of these liens for which just compensation is due under the Fifth Amendment.
8 It is true that not every destruction or injury to property by governmental action has been held to be a "taking" in 9 the constitutional sense. Omnia Commercial Co. v. United States, 261 U.S. 502, 508-510. This case and many others
10 reveal the difficulty of trying to draw the line between what destructions of property by lawful governmental actions
11 are compensable "takings" and what destructions are "consequential" and therefore not compensable. See, e. g.,
12 United States v. Central Eureka Mining Co., 357 U.S. 155; United States v. Causby, 328 U.S. 256; United States v.
13 General Motors Corp., 323 U.S. 373; United States v. Sponenbarger, 308 U.S. 256; Pennsylvania Coal Co. v. Mahon,
14 260 U.S. 393; Louisville & Nashville R. Co. v. Mottley, 219 U.S. 467; Legal Tender Cases, 12 Wall. 457, 551.

15 The total destruction by the Government of all value of these liens, which constitute compensable property, has 16 every possible element of a Fifth Amendment "taking" and is not a mere "consequential incidence" of a valid
17 regulatory measure. Before the liens were destroyed, the lienholders admittedly had compensable property.
18 Immediately afterwards, they had none. This was not because their property vanished into thin air. It was because 19 the Government for its own advantage destroyed the value of the liens, something that the Government could do
20 because its property was not subject to suit, but which no private purchaser could have done. Since this acquisition
21 was for a public use, however accomplished, whether with an intent and purpose of extinguishing the liens or not,
22 the Government's action did destroy them 49*49 and in the circumstances of this case did thereby take the property
23 value of those liens within the meaning of the Fifth Amendment. Neither the boats' immunity, after being acquired
24 by the Government, from enforcement of the liens nor the use of a contract to take title relieves the Government
25 from its constitutional obligation to pay just compensation for the value of the liens the petitioners lost and of which 26 loss the Government was the direct, positive beneficiary.

27 The Fifth Amendment's guarantee that private property shall not be taken for a public use without just compensation was 28 designed to bar Government from forcing some people alone to bear public burdens which, in all fairness and justice, 29 should be borne by the public as a whole. A fair interpretation of this constitutional protection entitles these lienholders to 30 just compensation here. Cf. Thibodo v. United States, 187 F. 2d. 249.

31 The judgment is reversed and the cause is remanded to the Court of Claims for further proceedings to determine the value

8 “PROPERTY. Rightful dominion over external objects; ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the 9 right to dispose of the substance of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to use it and to exclude every one else
10 from interfering with it. Mackeld. Rom. Law, § 265.

11
12 Property is the highest right a man can have to anything; being used for that right which one has to lands or tenements,
13 goods or chattels, which no way depends on another man's courtesy. Jackson ex dem. Pearson v. Housel, 17 Johns. 281, 14 283.

16 A right imparting to the owner a power of indefinite user, capable of being transmitted to universal successors by way of 17 descent, and imparting to the owner the power of disposition, from himself and his successors per universitatem, and from 18 all other persons who have a spes successions under any existing concession or disposition, in favor of such person or series
19 of persons as he may choose, with the like capacities and powers as he had himself, and under such conditions as the 20 municipal or particular law allows to be annexed to the dispositions of private persons. Aust. Jur. (Campbell's Ed.) § 1103.

22 The right of property is that sole and despotic dominion which one man claims and exercises over the external
23 things of the world, in total exclusion of the right of any other individual in the universe. It consists in the free use,
24 enjoyment and disposal of all a person's acquisitions, without any control or diminution save only by the laws of the 25 land. 1 Bl.Comm. 138; 2 Bl.Comm. 2, 15.

27 The word is also commonly used to denote any external object over which, the right of property is exercised. In this sense i
28 t is a very wide term, and includes every class of acquisitions which a man can own or have an interest in. See Scranton v.
29 Wheeler, 179 D. S. 141, 21 Sup.Ct. 48, 45 L.Ed. 126; Lawrence v. Hennessey, 165 Mo. 659, 65 S. W. 717; Boston & L. R.

34 —Absolute property . In respect to chattels personal property is said to be "absolute" where a man has, solely and 35 exclusively, the right and also the occupation of any movable chattels, so permanent, but may at some times subsist and not 36 at other times; such for example, as the property a man may have in wild animals which he has caught and keeps, and 37 which are his only so long as he retains possession of them. 2 BL.Comm. 389.—Real property . A general term for lands,
38 tenements, and hereditaments; property which, on the death of the owner intestate, passes to his heir. Real property is either
39 corporeal or incorporeal. See Code N. Y. § 462 — Separate property . The separate property of a married woman is that 40 which she owns in her own right, which is liable only for her own debts, and which she can incumber and dispose of at her
41 own will.—Special property. Property of a qualified, temporary, or limited nature; as distinguished from absolute, general,
42 or unconditional property. Such is the property of a bailee in the article bailed, of a sheriff in goods temporarily in his hands
43 under a levy, of the finder of lost goods while looking for the owner, of a person in wild animals which he has caught. Stief
44 v. Hart, 1 N.Y. 24; Moulton v. Witherell, 52 Me. 242; Eisendrath v. Knauer, 64 Ill. 402; Phelps v. People, 72 N.Y. 357.
45 [Black's Law Dictionary, Second Edition, p. 955]

48 “Property. That which is peculiar or proper to any person; that which belongs exclusively to one. In the strict legal sense,
49 an aggregate of rights which are guaranteed and protected by the government. Fulton Light, Heat & Power Co. v. State, 65
50 Misc.Rep. 263, 121 N.Y.S. 536. The term is said to extend to every species of valuable right and interest. More specifically,
51 ownership; the unrestricted and exclusive right to a thing; the right to dispose of a thing in every legal way, to possess it, to 52 use it, and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it. That dominion or indefinite right of use or disposition which 53 one may lawfully exercise over particular things or subjects. The exclusive right of possessing, enjoying, and disposing of a 54 thing. The highest right a man can have to anything; being used to refer to that right which one has to lands or tenements, 55 goods or chattels, which no way depends on another man's courtesy.

1 The word is also commonly used to denote everything which is the subject of ownership, corporeal or incorporeal, tangible
2 or intangible, visible or invisible, real or personal, everything that has an exchangeable value or which goes to make up
3 wealth or estate. It extends to every species of valuable right and interest, and includes real and personal property,
4 easements, franchises, and incorporeal hereditaments, and includes every invasion of one's property rights by actionable
5 wrong. Labberton v. General Cas. Co. of America, 53 Wash.2d. 180, 332 P.2d. 250, 252, 254.

6 Property embraces everything which is or may be the subject of ownership, whether a legal ownership, or whether
7 beneficial, or a private ownership. Davis v. Davis. TexCiv-App., 495 S.W.2d. 607. 611. Term includes not only ownership
8 and possession but also the right of use and enjoyment for lawful purposes. Hoffmann v. Kinealy, Mo., 389 S.W.2d. 745, 9 752.

11 Property, within constitutional protection, denotes group of rights inhering in citizen's relation to physical thing, as right to 12 possess, use and dispose of it. Cereghino v. State By and Through State Highway Commission, 230 Or. 439, 370 P.2d. 694, 13 697.

17 "Justice, as a moral habit, is that tendency of the will and mode of conduct which refrains from disturbing the lives and 18 interests [AND PROPERTY] of others, and, as far as possible, hinders such interference on the part of others. This
19 virtue springs from the individual's respect for his fellows as ends in themselves and as his co equals. The different spheres
20 of interests may be roughly classified as follows: body and life; the family, or the extended individual life; property, or the 21 totality of the instruments of action; honor, or the ideal existence; and finally freedom, or the possibility of fashioning one's
22 life as an end in itself. The law defends these different spheres, thus giving rise to a corresponding number of spheres of 23 rights, each being protected by a prohibition. . . . To violate the rights, to interfere with the interests of others, is injustice.
24 All injustice is ultimately directed against the life of the neighbor; it is an open avowal that the latter is not an end in itself,

6 “The distinction between public rights and private rights has not been definitively explained in our precedents. Nor is it
7 necessary to do so in the present cases, for it suffices to observe that a matter of public rights must at a minimum arise
8 “between the government and others.” Ex parte Bakelite Corp., supra, at 451, 49 S.Ct., at 413. In contrast, “the liability of 9 one individual to another under the law as defined,” Crowell v. Benson, supra, at 51, 52 S.Ct., at 292, is a matter of private 10 rights. Our precedents clearly establish that only controversies in the former category may be removed from Art. III courts
11 and delegated to legislative courts or administrative agencies for their determination. See Atlas Roofing Co. v.
12 Occupational Safety and Health Review Comm’n, 430 U.S. 442, 450, n. 7, 97 S.Ct. 1261, 1266, n. 7, 51 L.Ed.2d. 464
13 (1977); Crowell v. Benson, supra, 285 U.S., at 50-51, 52 S.Ct., at 292. See also Katz, Federal Legislative Courts, 43
14 Harv.L.Rev. 894, 917-918 (1930).FN24 Private-rights disputes, on the other hand, lie at the core of the historically 15 recognized judicial power.”

18
19 Although Crowell and Raddatz do not explicitly distinguish between rights created by Congress [PUBLIC RIGHTS] and 20 other [PRIVATE] rights, such a distinction underlies in part Crowell’s and Raddatz’ recognition of a critical difference
21 between rights created by federal statute and rights recognized by the Constitution. Moreover, such a distinction seems to 22 us to be necessary in light of the delicate accommodations required by the principle of separation of powers reflected in 23 Art. III. The constitutional system of checks and balances is designed to guard against “encroachment or aggrandizement”
24 by Congress at the expense of the other branches of government. Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S., at 122, 96 S.Ct., at 683. But 25 when Congress creates a statutory right [a “privilege” or “public right” in this case, such as a “trade or business”], it
26 clearly has the discretion, in defining that right, to create presumptions, or assign burdens of proof, or prescribe remedies;
27 it may also provide that persons seeking to vindicate that right must do so before particularized tribunals created to
28 perform the specialized adjudicative tasks related to that right.FN35 Such provisions do, in a sense, affect the exercise of 29 judicial power, but they are also incidental to Congress’ power to define the right that it has created. No comparable 30 justification exists, however, when the right being adjudicated is not of congressional creation. In such a situation,
31 substantial inroads into functions that have traditionally been performed by the Judiciary cannot be characterized merely 32 as incidental extensions of Congress’ power to define rights that it has created. Rather, such inroads suggest unwarranted
33 encroachments upon the judicial power of the United States, which our Constitution reserves for Art. III courts.

37 “As expressed otherwise, the powers delegated to a public officer are held in trust for the people and are to be exercised in 38 behalf of the government or of all citizens who may need the intervention of the officer. 1 Furthermore, the view has been 39 expressed that all public officers, within whatever branch and whatever level of government, and whatever be their private 40 vocations, are trustees of the people, and accordingly labor under every disability and prohibition imposed by law upon
41 trustees relative to the making of personal financial gain from a discharge of their trusts.2 That is, a public officer
42 occupies a fiduciary relationship to the political entity on whose behalf he or she serves.3 and owes a fiduciary duty to the 43 public.4 It has been said that the fiduciary responsibilities of a public officer cannot be less than those of a private 44 individual. 5 Furthermore, it has been stated that any enterprise undertaken by the public official which tends to weaken
45 public confidence and undermine the sense of security for individual [PRIVATE] rights is against public policy. “6

16 What is “Property”?

17 Keep in mind the following critical facts about “property” as legally defined:

- 18 1. The essence of the “property” right, also called “ownership”, is the RIGHT TO EXCLUDE others from using or 19 benefitting from the use of the property.

20 “We have repeatedly held that, as to property reserved by its owner for private use, ‘the right to exclude [others 21 is] ‘one of the most essential sticks in the bundle of rights that are commonly characterized as property.’”

- 34 2. It’s NOT your property if you can’t exclude EVERYONE, including the GOVERNMENT from using, benefitting from 5 "The fact is that the average man's love of liberty is nine-tenths imaginary, exactly like his love of sense, justice and truth.

6 He is not actually happy when free; he is uncomfortable, a bit alarmed, and intolerably lonely. Liberty is not a thing for the 7 great masses of men. It is the exclusive possession of a small and disreputable minority, like knowledge, courage and honor.
8 It takes a special sort of man to understand and enjoy liberty - and he is usually an outlaw in democratic societies."

22 “The very purpose of a Bill of Rights was to withdraw certain subjects from the vicissitudes of political controversy, to place
23 them beyond the reach of majorities and officials and to establish them as legal principles to be applied by the courts. One’s
24 right to life, liberty, and property, to free speech, a free press, freedom of worship and assembly, and other fundamental rights

36 “Political rights. Those which may be exercised in the formation or administration of the government. Rights of citizens
37 established or recognized by constitutions which give them the power to participate directly or indirectly in the establishment 38 or administration of the government.”

39 [Black’s Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 1159]

40
41 “It would be a palpable incongruity to strike down an act of state legislation which, by words of express divestment, seeks to 42 strip the citizen of rights guaranteed by the federal Constitution, but to uphold an act by which the same result is accomplished
43 under the guise of a surrender of a right in exchange for a valuable privilege which the state threatens otherwise to withhold.
44 It is not necessary to challenge the proposition that, as a general rule, the state, having power to deny a privilege altogether,
45 may grant it upon such conditions as it sees fit to impose. But the power of the state in that respect is not unlimited, and one
46 of the limitations is that it may not impose conditions which require the relinquishment of Constitutional rights. If the state 47 may compel the surrender of one constitutional right as a condition of its favor, it may, in like manner, compel a surrender of 48 all. It is inconceivable that guaranties embedded in the Constitution of the United States may thus be manipulated out or 49 existence.”

52
53 "It has long been established that a State may not impose a penalty upon those who exercise a right guaranteed by the 54 Constitution." Frost & Frost Trucking Co. v. Railroad Comm'n of California, 271 U.S. 583. "Constitutional rights would be 55 of little value if they could be indirectly denied,' Smith v. Allwright, 321 US. 649, 644, or manipulated out of existence,'

9 "Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and He will lift you up [above your public servants and government]."
10 [James 4:10, Bible, NKJV]

12 "Among these unalienable rights, as proclaimed in that great document [the Declaration of Independence] is the right of men
13 to pursue their happiness, by which is meant, the right any lawful business or vocation, in any manner not inconsistent with 14 the equal rights of others, which may increase their prosperity or develop their faculties, so as to give them their highest 15 enjoyment...It has been well said that, THE PROPERTY WHICH EVERY MAN HAS IN HIS OWN LABOR, AS IT IS 16 THE ORIGINAL FOUNDATION OF ALL OTHER PROPERTY SO IT IS THE MOST SACRED AND INVIOABLE... to 17 hinder his employing this strength and dexterity in what manner he thinks proper without injury to his neighbor, is a plain 18 violation of this most sacred property." "
19 [Butcher's Union Co. v. Crescent City Co., 111 U.S. 746 (1884)]

21 The moment the idea is admitted into society, that property is not as sacred as the laws of God, and that there is not a force
22 of law and public justice to protect it, anarchy and tyranny commence. If "Thou shalt not covet," and "Thou shalt not steal," 23 were not commandments of Heaven, they must be made inviolable precepts in every society, before it can be civilized or 24 made free.

32 of such state, may sue or be sued in its common name for the purpose of enforcing for or against it a substantive right existing

37 "Similarly, when a person is prevented from leaving his domicile by circumstances not of his doing and beyond his

39 [Roboz v. Kennedy, 219 F.Supp. 892 (D.D.C. 1963), p. 24], a federal statute was involved which precluded the return of an 40 alien's property if he was found to be domiciled in Hungary prior to a certain date. It was found that Hungary was Nazi-
41 controlled at the time in question and that the persons involved would have left Hungary (and lost domicile there) had they 42 been able to. Since they had been precluded from leaving because of the political privations imposed by the very government 43 they wanted to escape (the father was in prison there), the court would not hold them to have lost their property based on a 44 domicile that circumstances beyond their control forced them to retain."

47 "The rights of the individual are not derived from governmental agencies, either municipal, state or federal, or even from 48 the Constitution. They exist inherently in every man, by endowment of the Creator, and are merely reaffirmed in the 49 Constitution, and restricted only to the extent that they have been voluntarily surrendered by the citizenship to the
50 agencies of government. The people's rights are not derived from the government, but the government's authority comes 51 from the people.*946 The Constitution but states again these rights already existing, and when legislative encroachment by 52 the nation, state, or municipality invade these original and permanent rights, it is the duty of the courts to so declare, and to 53 afford the necessary relief. The fewer restrictions that surround the individual liberties of the citizen, except those for the 54 preservation of the public health, safety, and morals, the more contented the people and the more successful the democracy."
55 [City of Dallas v. Mitchell, 245 S.W. 944 (1922)]

1 "When a change of government takes place, from a monarchical to a republican government, the old form is dissolved. Those
2 who lived under it, and did not choose to become members of the new, had a right to refuse their allegiance to it, and to retire
3 elsewhere. By being a part of the society subject to the old government, they had not entered into any engagement to become
4 subject to any new form the majority might think proper to adopt. That the majority shall prevail is a rule posterior to the 5 formation of government, and results from it. It is not a rule upon mankind in their natural state. There, every man is 6 independent of all laws, except those prescribed by nature. He is not bound by any institutions formed by his fellowmen
7 without his consent"

8 [Cruden v. Neale, 2 N.C., 2 S.E. 70 (1796)]

9
10 "The constitutionality and scope of sections 1990 and 5526 present the first questions for our consideration. They prohibit 11 peonage. What is peonage? It may be defined as a state or condition of compulsory service, based upon the 12 indebtedness of the peon to the master. The basal fact is indebtedness. As said by Judge Benedict, delivering the opinion
13 in Jaramillo v. Romero, 1 N.Mex. 190, 194: 'One fact existed universally; all were indebted to their masters. This was the 14 cord by which they seemed bound to their masters' service.' Upon this is based a condition of compulsory service.
15 Peonage is sometimes classified as voluntary or involuntary, but this implies simply a difference in the mode of origin,
16 but not in the character of the servitude. The one exists where the debtor voluntarily contracts to enter the service of his 17 creditor. The other is forced upon the debtor by some provision of law. But peonage, however created, is compulsory
18 service, involuntary servitude. The peon can release himself therefrom, it is true, by the payment of the debt, but otherwise
19 the service is enforced. A clear distinction exists between peonage and the voluntary performance of labor or rendering
20 of services in payment of a debt. In the latter case the debtor, though contracting to pay his indebtedness by labor or service, 21 and subject like any other contractor to an action for damages for breach of that contract, can elect at any time to break it, and 22 no law or force compels performance or continuance of the service."

23 [Clyatt v. U.S., 197 U.S. 207 (1905)]

25 "That it does not conflict with the Thirteenth Amendment, which abolished slavery and involuntary servitude, except as a
26 punishment for crime, is too clear for argument. Slavery implies involuntary servitude—a state of bondage; the ownership 27 of mankind as a chattel, or at least the control of the labor and services of one man for the benefit of another, and the
28 absence of a legal right to the disposal of his own person, property, and services [in their entirety]. This amendment
29 was said in the Slaughter House Cases, 16 Wall, 36, to have been intended primarily to abolish slavery, as it had been 30 previously known in this country, and that it equally forbade Mexican peonage or the Chinese coolie trade, when they 31 amounted to slavery or involuntary servitude and that the use of the word 'servitude' was intended to prohibit the use of 32 all forms of involuntary slavery, of whatever class or name."

40 created for defined ends. See Keifer & Keifer v. Reconstruction Finance Corp., 306 U.S. 381, 390, 518. Whatever the form
41 in which the Government functions, anyone entering into an arrangement with the Government takes the risk of 42 having accurately ascertained that he who purports to act for the Government stays within the bounds of his authority.
43 The scope of this authority may be explicitly defined by Congress or be limited by delegated legislation, properly
44 exercised through the rule-making power. And this is so even though, as here, the agent himself may have been unaware 45 of the limitations upon his authority. See, e.g., Utah Power & Light Co. v. United States, 243 U.S. 389, 409, 391; United

56 "The restrictions that the Constitution places upon the government in its capacity as lawmaker, i.e., as the regulator of private 57 conduct, are not the same as the restrictions that it places upon the government in its capacity as employer. We have

1 recognized this in many contexts, with respect to many different constitutional guarantees. Private citizens perhaps cannot be
2 prevented from wearing long hair, but policemen can. Kelley v. Johnson, 425 U.S. 238, 247 (1976). Private citizens cannot 3 have their property searched without probable cause, but in many circumstances government employees can. O'Connor v.
4 Ortega, 480 U.S. 709, 723 (1987) (plurality opinion); id., at 732 (SCALIA, J., concurring in judgment). Private citizens cannot

36
37 "Tariffs, quotas and other import restrictions protect the business of the rich at the expense of high cost of living for the poor.
38 Their intent is to deprive you of the right to choose, and to force you to buy the high-priced inferior products of politically

44 [William O. Douglas, Supreme Court Justice, 1953]

46 "The prestige of government has undoubtedly been lowered considerably by the prohibition law. For nothing is more
47 destructive of respect for the government and the law of the land than passing laws which cannot be enforced. It is an open

38 [US District Judge James C. Paine, addressing the Federal Bar Association in Miami, November, 1991]

40 "Minimum wage laws tragically generate unemployment, especially among the poorest and least skilled or educated
41 workers... Because a minimum wage, of course, does not guarantee any worker's employment; it only prohibits, by force of 42 law, anyone from being hired at the wage which would pay his employer to hire him."

43 [Murray N. Rothbard, For a New Liberty]

44
45 "Decriminalization would take the profit out of drugs and greatly reduce, if not eliminate, the drug-related violence that is

12 [Daniel Webster]

13 7 REQUIREMENT FOR CONSENT⁵

14 “consent. A concurrence of wills. Voluntarily yielding the will to the proposition of another; acquiescence or compliance
15 therewith. Agreement; approval; permission; the act or result of coming into harmony or accord. Consent is an act of reason,
16 accompanied with deliberation, the mind weighing as in a balance the good or evil on each side. It means voluntary
17 agreement by a person in the possession and exercise of sufficient mental capacity to make an intelligent choice to do
18 something proposed by another. It supposes a physical power to act, a moral power of acting, and a serious, determined, and 19 free use of these powers. Consent is implied in every agreement. It is an act unclouded by fraud, duress, or sometimes 20 even mistake.

21
22 Willingness in fact that an act or an invasion of an interest shall take place. Restatement, Second, Torts §10A.

23
24 As used in the law of rape "consent" means consent of the will, and submission under the influence of fear or terror cannot 25 amount to real consent. There must be an exercise of intelligence based on knowledge of its significance and moral quality
26 and there must be a choice between resistance and assent. And if a woman resists to the point where further resistance would 27 be useless or until her resistance is overcome by force or violence, submission thereafter is not "consent".
28 See also Acquiescence; Age of consent; Assent; Connivance; Informed consent;" voluntary
29 [Black's Law Dictionary, Sixth Edition, p. 305]

30
31 appearance. A coming into court as a party to a suit, either in person or by attorney, whether as plaintiff or defendant. The 32 formal proceeding by which a defendant submits himself to the jurisdiction of the court. The voluntary submission to a 33 court's jurisdiction.

34 In civil actions the parties do not normally actually appear in person, but rather through their attorneys (who enter their 35 appearance by filing written pleadings, or a formal written entry of appearance). Also, at many stages of criminal proceedings, 36 particularly involving minor offenses, the defendant's attorney appears on his behalf. See e.g., Federal Rule of Criminal 37 Procedure 43.

38 An appearance may be either general or special; the former is a simple and unqualified or unrestricted submission to the 39 jurisdiction of the court, the latter is a submission to the jurisdiction for some specific purpose only, not for all the purposes
40 of the suit. A special appearance is for the purpose of testing or objecting to the sufficiency of service or the jurisdiction of 41 the court over defendant without submitting to such jurisdiction; a general appearance is made where the defendant waives
42 defects of service and submits to the jurisdiction of court. Insurance Co. of North America v. Kunin, 175 Neb. 260, 121

34 “Compact, n. An agreement or contract between persons, nations, or states. Commonly applied to working agreements
35 between and among states concerning matters of mutual concern. A contract between parties, which creates obligations and 36 rights capable of being enforced and contemplated as such between the parties, in their distinct and independent characters.
37 A mutual consent of parties concerned respecting some property or right that is the object of the stipulation, or something 38 that is to be done or forborne. See also Compact clause; Confederacy; Interstate compact; Treaty.”

43 Produced in or by an act of choice. Resulting from free choice, without compulsion or solicitation. The word, especially in 44 statutes, often implies knowledge of essential facts. Without valuable consideration; gratuitous, as a voluntary conveyance.
45 Also, having a merely nominal consideration; as, a voluntary deed.”

8 RELIGION⁶

“Do not be unequally yoked together with unbelievers. For what fellowship has righteousness with lawlessness? And what communion has light with darkness?”

[2 Cor. 6:14, Bible, NKJV]

“The devil always works in baby steps. If you put a frog in hot water, he will immediately jump out. But if you put him in cool water and then gradually raise the temperature over tens or even hundreds of years, then you can boil the frog alive and he won’t even know how it happened.”

[Unknown]

“It is better to trust the Lord than to put confidence in man. It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in princes.”

[Psalm 118:8-9, Bible, NKJV]

“...there is no authority except from God.”

[Romans 13:1, Bible, NKJV]

“...you are complete in Him [Christ], who is the head of all principality and power.”

[Colossians 2:10, Bible, NKJV]

“What right have you to declare My statutes [write man’s vain law], or take My covenant [the Bible] in your mouth, seeing you hate instruction and cast My words behind you? When you saw a thief, you consented with him, and have been a partaker with adulterers. You give your mouth to evil, and your tongue frames deceit. You sit and speak against your brother; you slander your own mother’s son. These things you have done, and I kept silent; you thought that I was altogether like you; but I will reprove you, and set them in order before your eyes. Now consider this, you who forget God, lest I tear you in pieces, and there be none to deliver: Whoever offers praise glorifies Me; and to him who orders his conduct aright I will show the salvation of God.”

[Psalm 50:16-23, Bible, NKJV]

"Adulterers and adulteresses! Do you now know that friendship [and "citizenship"] with the world is enmity with God?"

Whoever therefore wants to be a friend [citizen] of the world makes himself an enemy of God."

“Behold, the nations are as a drop in the bucket, and are counted as the small dust on the scales.”

[Isaiah 40:15, Bible, NKJV]

[Isaiah 40:17, Bible, NKJV]

[Isaiah 40:23, Bible, NKJV]

“Indeed they are all worthless; their works are nothing; their molded images are wind and confusion.”

[Isaiah 41:29, Bible, NKJV]

“Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their trouble, and to keep oneself unspotted from the world [and the corrupted governments and laws of the world].”

[James 1:27, Bible, NKJV]

[Psalm 9:17, Bible, NKJV]

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and He will lift you up [above your government].”

[James 4:10, Bible, NKJV]

2 “The most perfect maxims and examples for regulating your social conduct and domestic economy, as well as the best rules

37 “I have lived, Sir, a long time, and the longer I live, the more convincing proofs I see of this truth, that God governs in the 38 affairs of men. And if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice, is it probable that an empire can rise without 39 his aid? We have been assured, Sir, in the Sacred Writings, that "except the Lord build the House, they labor in vain that 40 build it." I firmly believe this; and I also believe that without His concurring aid we shall succeed in this political building no
41 better, than the Builders of Babel: We shall be divided by our partial local interests; our projects will be confounded, and we 42 ourselves shall become a reproach and by word down to future ages. And what is worse, mankind may hereafter from tis 43 unfortunate instance, despair of establishing governments by human wisdom and leave it to chance, war and conquest.

45 “We profess to be republicans, and yet we neglect the only means of establishing and perpetuating our republican forms of 43 "The "establishment of religion" clause of the First Amendment means at least this: neither a state nor the Federal

44 Government can set up a church. Neither can pass laws which aid one [state-sponsored political] religion, aid all religions,
45 or prefer one religion over another. Neither can force or influence a person to go to or to remain away from church against 46 his will, or force him to profess a belief or disbelief in any religion. No person can be punished for entertaining or professing
47 religious beliefs or disbeliefs, for church attendance or non-attendance. No tax in any amount, large or small, can be levied
48 to support any religious activities or institutions, whatever they may be called, or whatever form they may adopt to

22 23 9 SELF GOVERNMENT⁷

24 “All societies of men must be governed in some way or other. The less they may have of stringent State Government,
25 the more they must have of individual self-government. The less they rely on public law or physical force, the more
26 they must rely on private moral restraint. Men, in a word, must necessarily be controlled, either by a power within them,
27 or by a power without them; either by the Word of God, or by the strong arm of man; either by the Bible, or by the bayonet.
28 It may do for other countries and other governments to talk about the State supporting religion. Here, under our own free
29 institutions, it is Religion which must support the State.”

30 [Robert Winthrop, To the Annual Meeting of the Massachusetts Bible Society, Boston, Mass; May 28, 1849]

31
32
33 Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah, and said to him, “Look, you are old, and your 34 sons do not walk in your ways. Now make us a king to judge us like all the nations [and be OVER them]”.

36 But the thing displeased Samuel when they said, “Give us a king to judge us.” So Samuel prayed to the Lord. And the 37 Lord said to Samuel, “Heed the voice of the people in all that they say to you; for they have not rejected you, but they 38 have rejected Me [God], that I should not reign over them. According to all the works which they have done since the 39 day that I brought them up out of Egypt, even to this day—with which they have forsaken Me and served other gods
40 [Kings, in this case]—so they are doing to you also [government becoming idolatry]. Now therefore, heed their voice.
41 However, you shall solemnly forewarn them, and show them the behavior of the king who will reign over them.”

43 So Samuel told all the words of the LORD to the people who asked him for a king. And he said, “This will be the behavior
44 of the king who will reign over you: He will take [STEAL] your sons and appoint them for his own chariots and to be
45 his horsemen, and some will run before his chariots. He will appoint captains over his thousands and captains over
46 his fifties, will set some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and some to make his weapons of war and equipment
47 for his chariots. He will take [STEAL] your daughters to be perfumers, cooks, and bakers. And he will take [STEAL]
48 the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive groves, and give them to his servants. He will take [STEAL] a
49 tenth of your grain and your vintage, and give it to his officers and servants. And he will take [STEAL] your male
50 servants, your female servants, your finest young men, and your donkeys, and put them to his work [as SLAVES]. He 51 will take [STEAL] a tenth of your sheep. And you will be his servants. And you will cry out in that day because of 52 your king whom you have chosen for yourselves, and the LORD will not hear you in that day.”

7 "The determination of the Framers Convention and the ratifying conventions to preserve complete and unimpaired
8 state [and personal] self-government in all matters not committed to the general government is one of the plainest
9 facts which emerges from the history of their deliberations. And adherence to that determination is incumbent equally
10 upon the federal government and the states. State powers can neither be appropriated on the one hand nor abdicated on 11 the other. As this court said in Texas v. White, 7 Wall. 700, 725, 'The preservation of the States, and the maintenance
12 of their governments, are as much within the design and care of the Constitution as the preservation of the Union and
13 the maintenance of the National government. The Constitution, in all its provisions, looks to an indestructible Union,
14 composed of indestructible States.' Every journey to a forbidden end begins with the first step; and the danger of such a step 15 by the federal government in the direction of taking over the powers of the states is that the end of the journey may find the 16 states so despoiled of their powers, or-what may amount to the same thing-so [298 U.S. 238, 296] relieved of the 17 responsibilities which possession of the powers necessarily enjoins, as to reduce them to little more than geographical 18 subdivisions of the national domain. It is safe to say that if, when the Constitution was under consideration, it had been 19 thought that any such danger lurked behind its plain words, it would never have been ratified. "

10 GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS⁸

"To be governed is to be watched over, inspected, spied on, directed, legislated, regimented, closed in, indoctrinated, preached at, controlled, assessed, evaluated, censored, commanded; all by creatures that have neither the right, nor wisdom, nor virtue . . .

To be governed means that at every move, operation, or transaction one is noted, registered, entered in a census, taxed, stamped, priced, assessed, patented, licensed, authorized, recommended, admonished, prevented, reformed, set right, corrected. Government means to be subjected to tribute, trained, ransomed, exploited, monopolized, extorted, pressured, mystified, robbed; all in the name of public utility and the general good.

Then, at the first sign of resistance or word of complaint, one is repressed, fined, despised, vexed, pursued, hustled, beaten up, garroted, imprisoned, shot, machine-gunned, judged, sentenced, deported, sacrificed, sold, betrayed, and to cap it all, ridiculed, mocked, outraged, and dishonored. That is government, that is its justice and its morality! . . . O human personality! How can it be that you have cowered in such subjection for sixty centuries?"
[Pierre-Joseph Proudhon (born A. D. 1809 - died A. D. 1865)]

"Keep in mind, all of the Founding Fathers hated democracy – Thomas Jefferson was a partial exception, but only partial. For the most part, they hated democracy. The principles of the Founding Fathers were rather nicely expressed by John Jay, the head of the Constitutional Convention and the first Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. His favorite maxim was, "The people who own the country ought to govern it" -that's the principle on which the United States was founded. The major framer of the Constitution, James Madison, emphasized very clearly in the debates at the Constitutional Convention in 1787 that the whole system must be designed, as he put it, "to protect the minority of the opulent from the majority" -that's the primary purpose of the government, he said."

26 "Government is established for the protection of the weak against the strong. This is the principal, if not the sole motive for 27 the establishment of all legitimate government. It is only the weaker party that lose their liberties, when a government becomes 28 oppressive. The stronger party, in all governments are free by virtue of their superior strength. They never oppress themselves.
29 Legislation is the work of this stronger party; and if, in addition to the sole power of legislation, they have the sole power of

18 "Justice will not be served until those who are unaffected are as outraged as those who are."
19 [Benjamin Franklin]

23 "One of the greatest shortcomings in contemporary society is the inability of many to distinguish between right and wrong,
24 between good and evil, as well as the lack of the spirit to fight against injustice. Fundamentally, peace and our humanity must 25 be backed up by the spirit to challenge what is wrong. A peace that acquiesces to rampant iniquity represents the bleak
26 stillness of a spiritual graveyard. Shutting one's eyes to injustice is not tolerance; it is little more than cowardice and apathy.
27 While ignoring wrongdoing may seem the easy way out, in the end it only brings unhappiness to all. The true mission of free 28 speech is to uphold the spirit of justice and challenge inhumanity. "

29
30 "Patriotism means to stand by the country. It does not mean to stand by the President save to the degree in which he himself
31 stands by the country. To stand by the country, means to stand by the principles on which our great Republic was founded 32 and honor everyone's rights to self-determination and individualism."
33 [President Theodore Roosevelt]

35
36 "Aye, fight and you may die, run and you'll live, at least awhile. And dying in your beds many years from now, would you
37 be willing to trade all the days from this day to that, for one chance, just one chance to come back here and tell our enemies
38 that they may take our lives but they'll never take our freedom?"
39 [William Wallace, "Brave Heart"]

40
41 "Power concedes nothing without a demand. It never did, and it never will. Find out just what people will submit to, and you
42 have found out the exact amount of injustice and wrong which will be imposed upon them, and these will continue till they 43 have resisted with either words or blows, or with both. The limits of tyrants are prescribed by the endurance of those whom 44 they suppress."
45 [Frederick Douglas]

46
47 "You have rights antecedent to all earthly governments; rights that cannot be repealed or restrained by human laws; rights

49 [John Adams]

51 "Patriotism means to stand by the country. It does not mean to stand by the President."
52 [Theodore Roosevelt]

53
54 "It is the greatest absurdity to suppose it in the power of one, or any number of men, at the entering into society, to renounce
55 their essential natural rights, or the means of preserving those rights; when the grand end of civil government, from the very 56 nature of its institution, is for the support, protection, and defence of those very rights; the principal of which, as is before
57 observed, are Life, Liberty, and Property. If men, through fear, fraud, or mistake, should in terms renounce or give up any

1 essential natural right, the eternal law of reason and the grand end of society would absolutely vacate such renunciation. The
2 right to freedom being the gift of God Almighty, it is not in the power of man to alienate this gift and voluntarily become a
3 slave."

6 "We must never cease to proclaim in fearless tones the great principles of freedom and the rights of man which are the joint
7 inheritance of the English-speaking world and which through Magna Carta, the Bill of Rights, the Habeas Corpus, trial by 8 jury, and the English common law find their most famous expression in the American Declaration of Independence."

17 "I have never been able to conceive how any rational being could propose happiness to himself from the exercise of power 18 over others."

21 "If ye love wealth better than liberty, the tranquility of servitude better than the animating contest of freedom, go home from 22 us in peace; We ask not your counsels or your arms; Crouch down and lick the hands which feed you; May your chains set 23 lightly upon you, and may posterity forget that ye were our countrymen."

24 [Samuel Adams]

26 "... God forbid we should ever be twenty years without such a rebellion. The people cannot be all, and always, well informed.
27 The part which is wrong will be discontented, in proportion to the importance of the facts they misconceive. If they remain
28 quiet under such misconceptions, it is lethargy, the forerunner of death to the public liberty ... And what country can preserve
29 its liberties if its rulers are not warned from time to time, that this people preserve the spirit of resistance? Let them take arms.
30 The remedy is to set them right as to the facts, pardon and pacify them. What signify a few lives lost in a century or two? The 31 tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with the blood of patriots and tyrants. It is its natural manure."

32 [Thomas Jefferson. Nov. 13. 1787, letter to William S. Smith]

33

47 [Daniel Webster]

48
49 "But our rulers can have no authority over such natural rights, only as we have submitted to them. The rights of conscience
50 we never submitted, we could not submit. We are answerable for them to our God. The legitimate powers of government 51 extend to such acts as are injurious to others."

52 [Thomas Jefferson in "Notes on Virginia"]

54 "Liberty is one of the most precious gifts which heaven has bestowed on man; with it we cannot compare the treasures which 55 the earth contains or the sea conceals; for liberty, as for honor, we can and ought to risk our lives; and, on the other hand, 56 captivity is the greatest evil that can befall man."

21 [Patrick Henry]
22
23 "God grant that not only the love of liberty but a thorough knowledge of the rights of man may pervade all the nations of the

25 [Benjamin Franklin, letter to David Hartley, December 4, 1789]
26
27 "Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains or slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not 28 what course others may take but as for me; give me liberty or give me death!"
29 [Patrick Henry]
30
31 "Those who profess to favor freedom, and yet depreciate agitation, are men who want crops without plowing up the ground.
32 They want rain without thunder and lightning. They want the ocean without the awful roar of its waters. This struggle may 33 be a moral one; or it may be a physical one; or it may be both moral and physical; but it must be a struggle! Power concedes
34 nothing without a demand. It never did, and it never will. Find out just what people will submit to, and you have found out

8 "They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety."
9 [Benjamin Franklin]
10
11 "Experience should teach us to be most on our guard to protect liberty when the Government's purposes are beneficent. Men
12 born to freedom are naturally alert to repel invasion of their liberty by evil-minded rulers. The greatest dangers to liberty lurk 13 in insidious encroachment by men of zeal, well-meaning but without understanding."

15
16 "He that would make his own liberty secure must guard even his enemy from oppression; for if he violates this duty he 17 establishes a precedent that will reach to himself."
18 [Thomas Paine]
20 "I often wonder whether we do not rest our hopes too much upon constitutions, upon law and upon courts. These are false
21 hopes, believe me, these are false hopes. Liberty lies in the hearts of men and women; when it dies there, no constitution,
22 no law, no court can save it; no constitution, no law, no court can even do much to help it. While it lies there it needs no 23 constitution, no law, no courts to save it."

43 [Thomas Jefferson]
44
45 "It is when a people forget God that tyrants forge their chains..."
46 [Patrick Henry]
47
48 "They who say all men are equal speak an undoubted truth, if they mean that all have an equal right to liberty; to their 49 property, and to their protection of the laws. But they are mistaken if they think men are equal in their station and 50 employments, since they are not so by their talents."
51 [Voltaire]
52
53 "There is no liberty to men who know not how to govern themselves."
54 [Henry Ward Beecher]
55
56 "Courage, then, my countrymen, our contest is not only whether we ourselves shall be free, but whether there shall be left to 57 mankind an asylum on earth for civil and religious liberty."

1 [Samuel Adams]

3 "Dear Fellow American Patriot, When this country was in its very infancy, our Founding Fathers pledged their fortunes, their 4 sacred honor, indeed their very lives to stand against tyranny. These men and their families led us on to victory. Historians
5 have calculated the total membership of these true heroes to be only 3% of the country at that time. To these men, Liberty
6 was worth more than life itself. The nation that was born from their sacrifices has never since been duplicated in the history
7 of the world. Our nation is once again in peril of losing its very essence to tyrants who would steal from us the life blood that 8 has made our country great. It is by the grace of Almighty God that you have been chosen to join with us in the fight to restore
9 our Nation back to its original greatness; back to a Nation where wo/men are free to believe as they choose, work for 10 themselves and prosper according to their efforts and faith - where Rights are again protected by Law, not ignored or destroyed
11 by the policies of bureaucrats. So welcome brothers and sisters! Knowing that resistance to tyranny is obedience to God, I 12 am honored to call you my countrymen. May God Bless you!"

23 [Abraham Lincoln]

25 "It's the action, not the fruit of the action, that's important. You have to do the right thing. It may not be in your power, it may 26 not be in your time, that there'll be any fruit. But that doesn't mean you stop doing the right thing. You may never know what 27 results come from your action. But if you do nothing, there will be no result."

28 [Gandhi]

30 "In Germany, they came first for the Communists, and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a Communist. Then they came for 31 the Jews, and I didn't speak up because I wasn't a Jew. Then they came for the Trade Unionists, and I didn't speak up because 32 I wasn't a Trade Unionist. Then they came for the Catholics, and I didn't speak up because I was a Protestant. Then they came 33 for me, and by that time, no one was left to speak up."

46 "A nation can survive its fools, and even the ambitious. But it cannot survive treason from within. An enemy at the gates is 47 less formidable, for he is known and carries his banners openly. But the traitor moves amongst those within the gate freely,
48 his sly whispers rustling through all the alleys, heard in the very halls of government itself. For the traitor appears not a traitor;
49 he speaks in accents familiar to his victims, and he wears their face and their garments, and he appeals to the baseness that 50 lies deep in the hearts of all men. He rots the soul of a nation, he works secretly and unknown in the night to undermine the 51 pillars of a city, he infects the body politic so that it can no longer resist. A murderer is less to be feared"

52 [Marcus Tullius Cicero 42 BC]

54 "Do not be afraid of your enemies - in the worst case they can kill you; Do not be afraid of your friends - in the worst case
55 they can betray you; Be afraid of the indifferent ones: it is from their silent blessings that all the evil is happening in the 56 world!"

10 "In the first place we should insist that if the immigrant who comes here in good faith becomes an American and assimilates 11 himself to us, he shall be treated on an exact equality with everyone else, for it is an outrage to discriminate against any such 12 man because of creed, or birthplace, or origin. But this is predicated upon the man's becoming in very fact an American, and 13 nothing but an American...There can be no divided allegiance here. Any man who says he is an American, but something else
14 also, isn't an American at all. We have room for but one flag, the American flag, and this excludes the red flag, which 15 symbolizes all wars against liberty and civilization, just as much as it excludes any foreign flag of a nation to which we are 16 hostile...We have room for but one language here, and that is the English language...and we have room for but one sole loyalty
17 and that is a loyalty to the American people."

20 "The government consists of a gang of men exactly like you and me. They have, taking one with another, no special talent
21 for the business of government; they have only a talent for getting and holding office. Their principal device to that end is to 22 search out groups who pant and pine for something they can't get and to promise to give it to them. Nine times out of ten that 23 promise is worth nothing. The tenth time is made good by looting A to satisfy B. In other words, government is a broker in 24 pillage, and every election is sort of an advance auction sale of stolen goods."

27 "[W]hat more is necessary to make us a happy and prosperous people? ... a wise and frugal government ... which shall leave
28 [men] free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread
29 it has earned ... We must make our choice between economy and liberty or profusion and servitude ... If we can prevent 30 government from wasting the labors of the people, under the pretense of caring for them, the people will be happy."

31 [Thomas Jefferson]

32
33 "Governments, whatever their pretensions otherwise, try to preserve themselves by holding the individual down ...

49 "We are taxed in our bread and our wine, in our incomes and our investments, on our land and on our property not only for 50 base creatures who do not deserve the name of men, but for foreign nations, complaisant nations who will bow to us and
51 accept our largesse and promise us to assist in the keeping of the peace - these mendicant nations who will destroy us when 52 we show a moment of weakness or our treasury is bare, and surely it is becoming bare! We are taxed to maintain legions on 53 their soil, in the name of law and order and the Pax Romana, a document which will fall into dust when it pleases our allies
54 and our vassals. We keep them in precarious balance only with our gold. Is the heart blood of our nation worth these? Were 55 they bound to us with ties of love, they would not ask our gold. They take our very flesh, and they hate and despise us. And 56 who shall say we are worthy of more? ... When a government becomes powerful it is destructive, extravagant and violent; it

1 is an usurer which takes bread from innocent mouths and deprives honorable men of their substance, for votes with which to

24 "When all government, in little as in great things, shall be drawn to Washington as the Center of all Power, it will render

11 "Frankfurter has been furnishing most of the legal brains for the outfit, and it is said that no legal position of any consequence
12 can be secured by any lawyer in the present administration without it has first had the approval of Frankfurter. And it is a
13 startling fact, in connection with this, that most of the legal advisers, especially in key positions, are Jews. Felix Frankfurter's
14 adept student and protégé, Jerome N. Frank, general counsel of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, delivered an 15 address before the Association of American Law Schools, thirty-first annual meeting, at Chicago, December 30, 1933, on 16 Experimental Jurisprudence and the New Deal. "

18 Therefore, in the promulgation of the various codes affecting industry and agriculture throughout the country, they have 19 sought to compel, browbeat, and bulldoze the business interests of this country to engage in private contract so that they 20 would have the power to require the business interests of the Nation to do their wishes regardless of the Constitution.

22 "The —new-deal lawyers now have no hesitancy in appearing in court and asserting that private citizens can contract away
23 their constitutional rights. It has been through this method that they have broken down State lines and invaded the most 24 private affairs of our citizens. It will be through this method, for instance, that the little retailer of the country will be driven
25 out of business and chain-store-system control by them put into operation, just as they are attempting in England."

30 "A reading of this address shows the contempt of the Frankfurter lawyers for the Constitution of the land and an expressed 31 determination to obviate and avoid constitutional barriers in their administration of the Nation's affairs. Those in charge of 32 the plan and its administration in the United States have for years considered methods for accomplishing their ends without 33 regard to the Constitution of the United States. They recognize the fact that the National Industrial Recovery Act did not give 34 them all of the power they desired in order to break down the barriers enacted in our Constitution, preserving certain rights 35 to the various States of the Union, as well as other features.

1 "The great distinction between Monarchies and Republics (at least our Republics) in general is, that in the former the monarch
2 is considered as the sovereign, and each individual of his nation a subject to him, though in some countries with many
3 important special limitations: This, I say, is generally the case, for it has not been so universally. But in a Republic, all the 4 citizens, as such, are equal, and no citizen can rightfully exercise any authority over another, but in virtue of a power
5 constitutionally given by the whole community, and such authority when exercised, is in effect an act of the whole
6 community which forms such body politic. In such governments, therefore, the sovereignty resides in the great body of the 7 people, but it resides in them not as so many distinct individuals, but in their politic capacity only."

22 12 THE CONSTITUTION ...

38 "But where the conduct or fact, the existence of which is made the basis of the statutory presumption, itself falls within the 39 scope of a provision of the Federal Constitution, a further question arises. It is apparent that a constitutional prohibition
40 cannot be transgressed indirectly by the creation of a statutory presumption any more than it can be violated by direct
41 enactment. The power to create presumptions is not a means of escape from constitutional restrictions. And the state

48 [federal] government. In the first place, one of the objects of the Constitution, expressed in its preamble, was the 49 establishment of justice, and what that meant in its relations to contracts is not left, as was justly said by the late Chief
50 Justice, in Hepburn v. Griswold, to inference or conjecture. As he observes, at the time the Constitution was undergoing
51 discussion in the convention, the Congress of the Confederation was engaged in framing the ordinance for the government
52 of the Northwestern Territory, in which certain articles of compact were established between the people of the original States
53 and the people of the Territory, for the purpose, as expressed in the instrument, of extending the fundamental principles of 54 civil and religious liberty, upon which the States, their laws and constitutions, were erected. By that ordinance it was 55 declared, that, in the just preservation of rights and property, 'no law ought ever to be made, or have force in the said

1 Territory, that shall, in any manner, interfere with or affect private contracts or engagements bona fide and without
2 fraud previously formed. The same provision, adds the Chief Justice, found more condensed expression in the prohibition
3 upon the States [in Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution] against impairing the obligation of contracts, which has ever
4 been recognized as an efficient safeguard against injustice; and though the prohibition is not applied in terms to the
5 government of the United States, he expressed the opinion, speaking for himself and the majority of the court at the time,
6 that it was clear 'that those who framed and those who adopted the Constitution intended that the spirit of this
7 prohibition should pervade the entire body of legislation, and that the justice which the Constitution was ordained to
8 establish was not thought by them to be compatible with legislation [or judicial precedent] of an opposite tendency.' 8

20 "Indeed, the practical interpretation put by Congress upon the Constitution has been long continued and uniform to the effect
21 [182 U.S. 244, 279] that the Constitution is applicable to territories acquired by purchase or conquest, only when and
22 so far as Congress shall so direct. Notwithstanding its duty to 'guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of 23 government' (art. 4, 4), by which we understand, according to the definition of Webster, 'a government in which the supreme 24 power resides in the whole body of the people, and is exercised by representatives elected by them,' Congress did not hesitate,
25 in the original organization of the territories of Louisiana, Florida, the Northwest Territory, and its subdivisions of Ohio,
26 Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin and still more recently in the case of Alaska, to establish a form of government
27 bearing a much greater analogy to a British Crown colony than a republican state of America, and to vest the legislative 28 power either in a governor and council, or a governor and judges, to be appointed by the President. It was not until they had 29 attained a certain population that power was given them to organize a legislature by vote of the people. In all these cases, as 30 well as in territories subsequently organized west of the Mississippi, Congress thought it necessary either to extend to 31 Constitution and laws of the United States over them, or to declare that the inhabitants should be entitled to enjoy the right
32 of trial by jury, of bail, and of the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, as well as other privileges of the bill of rights."

35 "The existing Confederation's great and fundamental defect is the principle of LEGISLATION for STATES in their
36 COLLECTIVE CAPACITIES rather than for the INDIVIDUALS living in the States. Although this principle does not apply
37 to all the powers delegated to the Union, it pervades those on which the effectiveness of the rest depends. Except for the

45 13 FIRST AMENDMENT AND FREEDOM OF SPEECH

46 "... The constitutional rights of those spreading their religious beliefs through the spoken and printed word are not to 47 be gauged by standards governing retailers or wholesalers of books. The right to use the press for expressing one's
48 views is not to be measured by the protection afforded commercial handbills. It should be remembered that the pamphlets
49 of Thomas Paine were not distributed free of charge. It is plain that a religious organization needs funds to remain a going
50 concern. But an itinerant evangelist, however misguided or intolerant he may be, does not become a mere book agent by 51 selling the Bible or religious tracts to help defray his expenses or to sustain him. Freedom of speech, freedom of the press,
52 freedom of religion are available to all, not merely to those who can pay their own way. . ."

53 [Murdock v. Pennsylvania, 319 U.S. 105 (1943)]

1 "Anonymous pamphlets, leaflets, brochures and even books have played an important role in the progress of mankind." Talley
2 v. California, 362 U.S. 60, 64 (1960). Great works of literature have frequently been produced by authors writing under
3 assumed names. 4 Despite readers' curiosity and the public's interest in identifying the creator of a work of art, an author
4 generally is free to decide whether or not to disclose her true identity. The decision in favor of anonymity may be motivated
5 by fear of economic or official retaliation, by concern about social ostracism, or merely by a desire to preserve as
6 much of one's privacy as possible. Whatever the motivation may be, at least in the field of literary endeavor, the 7 interest in having anonymous works enter the marketplace of ideas unquestionably outweighs any public interest in
8 requiring disclosure as a condition of entry. 5 Accordingly, an author's decision to remain anonymous, like other
9 decisions concerning omissions or additions to the content of a publication, is an aspect of the freedom of speech
10 protected by the First Amendment.

11 The freedom to publish anonymously extends beyond the literary realm. In Talley, the Court held that the First Amendment
12 protects the distribution of unsigned handbills urging readers to boycott certain Los Angeles merchants who were allegedly 13 engaging in discriminatory employment practices. 362 U.S. 60 . Writing for the Court, Justice Black noted that "[p]ersecuted
14 groups and sects from time to time throughout history have been able to criticize oppressive practices and laws either
15 anonymously or not at all." Id., at 64. Justice Black recalled England's abusive press licensing laws and seditious libel
16 prosecutions, and he reminded us that even the arguments favoring the ratification of the Constitution advanced in the 17 Federalist Papers were published under fictitious names. Id., at 64-65. On occasion, quite apart from any threat of persecution,
18 an advocate may believe her ideas will be more persuasive if her readers are unaware of her identity. Anonymity thereby
19 provides a way for a writer who may be personally unpopular to ensure that readers will not prejudge her message
20 simply because they do not like its proponent. Thus, even in the field of political rhetoric, where "the identity of the 21 speaker is an important component of many attempts to persuade," City of Ladue v. Gilleo, 512 U.S. 43, 56 (1994)
22 (footnote omitted), the most effective advocates have sometimes opted for anonymity. The specific holding in Talley
23 related to advocacy of an economic boycott, but the Court's reasoning embraced a respected tradition of anonymity in the 24 advocacy of political causes. 6 This tradition is perhaps best exemplified by the secret ballot, the hard-won right to vote one's 25 conscience without fear of retaliation."

53 Anonymous pamphlets, leaflets, brochures and even books have played an important role in the progress of mankind.
54 Persecuted groups and sects from time to time throughout history have been able to criticize oppressive practices and laws
55 either anonymously or not at all. The obnoxious press licensing law of England, which was also enforced on the Colonies

1 was due in part to the knowledge that exposure of the names of printers, writers and distributors would lessen the circulation
2 of literature critical of the government. The old seditious libel cases in England show the lengths to which government had
3 to go to find out who was responsible for books that were obnoxious [362 U.S. 60, 65] to the rulers. John Lilburne was 4 whipped, pilloried and fined for refusing to answer questions designed to get evidence to convict him or someone else for the
5 secret distribution of books in England. Two Puritan Ministers, John Penry and John Udal, were sentenced to death on charges
6 that they were responsible for writing, printing or publishing books. 6 Before the Revolutionary War colonial patriots
7 frequently had to conceal their authorship or distribution of literature that easily could have brought down on them
8 prosecutions by English-controlled courts. Along about that time the Letters of Junius were written and the identity of their
9 author is unknown to this day. 7 Even the Federalist Papers, written in favor of the adoption of our Constitution, were 10 published under fictitious names. It is plain that anonymity has sometimes been assumed for the most constructive purposes.

12 We have recently had occasion to hold in two cases that there are times and circumstances when States may not compel
13 members of groups engaged in the dissemination of ideas to be publicly identified. Bates v. Little Rock, 361 U.S. 516;
14 N.A.A.C.P. v. Alabama, 357 U.S. 449, 462. The reason for those holdings was that identification and fear of reprisal
15 might deter perfectly peaceful discussions of public matters of importance. This broad Los Angeles ordinance is 16 subject to the same infirmity. We hold that it, like the Griffin, Georgia, ordinance, is void on its face. [362 U.S. 60, 66]

19 Just as there is freedom to speak, to associate, and to believe, so there is freedom not to speak, associate, or 20 believe. "The right to speak and the right to refrain from speaking are complementary components of the broader concept of 21 'individual freedom of mind.'" Wooley v. Maynard (1977). Freedom of conscience dictates that no individual be forced to 22 espouse ideological causes with which he disagrees: "[A]t the heart of the First Amendment is the notion that the individual 23 should be free to believe as he will, and that in a free society one's beliefs should be shaped by his mind and by his conscience,
24 rather than coerced by the State." Aboud v. Detroit Bd. Of Educ. (1977)

30 Like freedom of speech and a free press, the right of peaceable assembly was considered by the Framers of our Constitution
31 to lie at the foundation of a government [361 U.S. 516, 523] based upon the consent of an informed citizenry - a government
32 dedicated to the establishment of justice and the preservation of liberty. U.S. Const., Amend. I. And it is now beyond dispute
33 that freedom of association for the purpose of advancing ideas and airing grievances is protected by the Due Process Clause
34 of the Fourteenth Amendment from invasion by the States. De Jonge v. Oregon, 299 U.S. 353, 364; N.A.A.C.P. v. Alabama, 35 357 U.S. 449, 460.

37 Freedoms such as these are protected not only against heavy-handed frontal attack, but also from being stifled by 38 more subtle governmental interference. Grosjean v. American Press Co., 297 U.S. 233; Murdock v. Pennsylvania, 319
39 U.S. 105; American Communications Assn. v. Douds, 339 U.S. 382, 402; N.A.A.C.P. v. Alabama, supra; Smith v.
40 California, 361 U.S. 147. "It is hardly a novel perception that compelled disclosure of affiliation with groups engaged in 41 advocacy may constitute [an] effective . . . restraint on freedom of association. . . . This Court has recognized the vital
42 relationship between freedom to associate and privacy in one's associations. . . . Inviolability of privacy in group association
43 may in many circumstances be indispensable to preservation of freedom of association, particularly where a group espouses
44 dissident beliefs." N.A.A.C.P. v. Alabama, 357 U.S., at 462.

46 On this record it sufficiently appears that compulsory disclosure of the membership lists of the local branches of the 47 National Association for the Advancement of Colored People would work a significant interference with the freedom
48 of association of their members. 9 There was [361 U.S. 516, 524] substantial uncontroverted evidence that public
49 identification of persons in the community as members of the organizations had been followed by harassment and threats of 50 bodily harm. There was also evidence that fear of community hostility and economic reprisals that would follow public
51 disclosure of the membership lists had discouraged new members from joining the organizations and induced former members
52 to withdraw. This repressive effect, while in part the result of private attitudes and pressures, was brought to bear only after 53 the exercise of governmental power had threatened to force disclosure of the members' names. N.A.A.C.P. v. Alabama, 357
54 U.S., at 463. Thus, the threat of substantial government encroachment upon important and traditional aspects of individual 55 freedom is neither speculative nor remote.

1 Decision in this case must finally turn, therefore, on whether the cities as instrumentalities of the State have demonstrated so
2 cogent an interest in obtaining and making public the membership lists of these organizations as to justify the substantial
3 abridgment of associational freedom which such disclosures will effect. Where there is a significant encroachment upon 4 personal liberty, the State may prevail only upon showing a subordinating interest which is compelling. N.A.A.C.P. v.

36 In the First Amendment, the Founding Fathers gave the free press the protection it must have to fulfill its essential role in our 37 democracy. The press was to serve the governed, not the governors. The Government's power to censor the press was 38 abolished so that the press would remain forever free to censure the Government. The press was protected so that it
39 could bare the secrets of government and inform the people. Only a free and unrestrained press can effectively expose

41 the government from deceiving the people and sending them off to distant lands to die of foreign fevers and foreign
42 shot and shell. In my view, far from deserving condemnation for their courageous reporting, the New York Times, the 43 Washington Post, and other newspapers should be commended for serving the purpose that the Founding Fathers saw so
44 clearly. In revealing the workings of government that led to the Vietnam war, the newspapers nobly did precisely that which

49 "The fact that conduct qua expression is "speech" does not mean that it can not at all be regulated or made a crime,⁹ but does 50 result in severe limitations on that process. The first amendment by its negative drafting ("Congress shall make no law . . .
51 abridging the freedom of speech. . .") protects conduct qua expression unless it can be removed from that protection pursuant
52 to some doctrine judicially recognized as consistent with the first amendment. Thus, one who challenges the application of 53 a statute to conduct which amounts to expression does not have the burden of bringing his expression within the first
54 amendment. Rather the burden is on his opponent to show that such expression is within one of those narrow areas

2 carved away from the first amendment."

3
4 As to any given statute then there is first the threshold question whether the statute relates to expression and is therefore
5 governed by first amendment considerations. We look for that answer in reality and not solely in the words of the statute.
6 Thus, if a statute in its impact has or can be expected substantially to involve expression, that must be sufficient, whether or 7 not the words of the statute so provide. There is, secondly, the removal question, whether the expressive conduct is so related 8 to action that the expression is therefore carved away from the protection of the first amendment.

11 Under our Constitution, free speech is not a right that is given only to be so circumscribed that it exists in principle but not in 12 fact. Freedom of expression would not truly exist if the right could be exercised only in an area that a benevolent government
13 has provided as a safe haven for crackpots. The Constitution says that Congress (and the States) may not abridge the right to 14 free speech. This provision means what it says. We properly read it to permit reasonable regulation of speech-connected
15 activities in carefully restricted circumstances. But we do not confine the permissible exercise of First Amendment rights to 16 a telephone booth or the four corners of a pamphlet, or to supervised and ordained discussion in a school classroom.

20 "Our form of government is built on the premise that every citizen shall have the right to engage in political expression and 21 association. This right was enshrined in the First Amendment of the Bill of Rights. Exercise of these basic freedoms in 22 America has traditionally been through the media of political associations. Any interference with the freedom of a party is 23 simultaneously an interference with the freedom of its adherents. All political ideas cannot and should not be channeled into 24 the programs of our two major parties. History has amply proved the virtue of political activity by minority, dissident groups 25"

27 The NAACP is not a conventional political party; but the litigation it assists, while serving to vindicate the legal rights of 28 members of the American Negro community, at the same time and perhaps more importantly, makes possible the distinctive 29 contribution of a minority group to the ideas and beliefs of our society. For such a group, association for litigation may be 30 the most effective form of political association.

32 But it does not follow that this Court now has only a clear-cut task to decide whether the activities of the petitioner deemed 33 unlawful by the Supreme Court of Appeals are constitutionally privileged. If the line drawn by the decree between the 34 permitted and prohibited activities of the NAACP, its members and lawyers is an ambiguous one, we will not presume that 35 the statute curtails constitutionally protected activity as little as possible. For standards of permissible statutory vagueness

40 privileged conduct. For in appraising a statute's inhibitory effect upon such rights, this Court has not hesitated to take into

11 most precious of the liberties safeguarded by the Bill of Rights. These rights, moreover, are intimately connected, both in

14 Amendment would, however, be a hollow promise if it left government free to destroy or erode its guarantees by indirect
15 restraints so long as no law is passed that prohibits free speech, press, petition, or assembly as such. We have therefore 16 repeatedly held that laws which actually affect the exercise of these vital rights cannot be sustained merely because they were

34 Nearly half a century of review and refinement of Establishment Clause jurisprudence has distilled one clear
35 understanding: Government may neither promote nor affiliate itself with any religious doctrine or organization, nor 36 may it obtrude itself in the internal affairs of any religious institution. The application of these principles to the present
37 case mandates the decision reached today by the Court.

38
39 The mixing of government and religion can be a threat to free government, even if no one is forced to participate.
40 When the government puts its imprimatur on a particular religion, it conveys a message of exclusion to all those who do not 41 adhere to the favored beliefs.{9} A government cannot [505 U.S. 607] be premised on the belief that all persons are created
42 equal when it asserts that God prefers some. Only "[a]nguish, hardship and bitter strife" result "when zealous religious groups 43 struggl[e] with one another to obtain the Government's stamp of approval." Engel, 370 U.S. at 429; see also Lemon, 403 U.S.
44 at 622-623; Aguilar v. Felton, 473 U.S. 402, 416 (1985) (Powell, J., concurring).{10} Such a struggle can "strain a political 45 system to the breaking point." Walz v. Tax Commission, 397 U.S. 664, 694 (1970) (opinion of Harlan, J.).

47 When the government arrogates to itself a role in religious affairs, it abandons its obligation as guarantor of 48 democracy. Democracy requires the nourishment of dialogue and dissent, while religious faith puts its trust in an 49 ultimate divine authority above all human deliberation. When the government appropriates religious truth, it
50 "transforms rational debate into theological decree." Nuechterlein, Note, The Free Exercise Boundaries of Permissible
51 Accommodation Under the Establishment Clause, 99 Yale L.J. 1127, 1131 (1990). Those who disagree no longer are 52 questioning the policy judgment of the elected but the rules of a higher authority who is beyond reproach. [505 U.S. 608]

53
54 Madison warned that government officials who would use religious authority to pursue secular ends

7
8 Likewise, we have recognized that "[r]eligion flourishes in greater purity, without than with the aid of Gov[ernment]." {11}
9 Id. at 309. To "make room for as wide a variety of beliefs and creeds as the spiritual needs of man deem necessary," Zorach
10 v. Clauson, 343 U.S. 306, 313 (1952), the government must not align itself with any one of them. When the government
11 favours a particular religion or sect, the disadvantage to all others is obvious, but even the favored religion may fear
12 being "taint[ed] . . . with a corrosive secularism." Grand Rapids School Dist. v. Ball, 473 U.S. 373, 385 (1985). The 13 favored religion may be compromised as political figures reshape the religion's beliefs for their own purposes; it may
14 be reformed as government largesse brings government regulation. {12} Keeping religion in the hands of private groups
15 minimizes state intrusion on religious choice, and best enables each religion to "flourish according to the [505 U.S. 609] zeal
16 of its adherents and the appeal of its dogma." Zorach, 343 U.S. at 313.

18 It is these understandings and fears that underlie our Establishment Clause jurisprudence. We have believed that religious
19 freedom cannot exist in the absence of a free democratic government, and that such a government cannot endure
20 when there is fusion between religion and the political regime. We have believed that religious freedom cannot thrive in 21 the absence of a vibrant religious community, and that such a community cannot prosper when it is bound to the secular. And 22 we have believed that these were the animating principles behind the adoption of the Establishment Clause. To that end, our 23 cases have prohibited government endorsement of religion, its sponsorship, and active involvement in religion, whether or 24 not citizens were coerced to conform.
25 [Lee v. Weisman, 505 U.S. 577 \(1992\)]

27
28 This emphasis on equal treatment is, I think, an eminently sound approach. In my view, the Religion Clauses -- the Free
29 Exercise Clause, the Establishment Clause, the Religious Test Clause, Art. VI, cl. 3, and the Equal Protection Clause as 30 applied to religion -- all speak with one voice on this point: absent the most unusual circumstances, one's religion ought not 31 affect one's legal rights or duties or benefits. As I have previously noted,

32 the Establishment Clause is infringed when the government makes adherence to religion relevant to 33 a person's standing in the political community.

39 An order issued in the area of First Amendment rights must be couched in the narrowest terms that will accomplish the pin-
40 pointed objective permitted by constitutional mandate and the essential needs of the public order. In this sensitive field, the 41 State may not employ [393 U.S. 175, 184] "means that broadly stifle fundamental personal liberties when the end can be 42 more narrowly achieved." Shelton v. Tucker, 364 U.S. 479, 488 (1960). In other words, the order must be tailored as precisely
43 as possible to the exact needs of the case. The participation of both sides is necessary for this purpose. ¹¹ Certainly, the failure
44 to invite participation of the party seeking to exercise First Amendment rights reduces the possibility of a narrowly drawn 45 order, and substantially imperils the protection which the Amendment seeks to assure.

20 "The grant of the power to lay and collect taxes is, like the power to regulate commerce, made in general terms, and
21 has never been understood to interfere with the exercise of the same power by the State; and hence has been drawn an 22 argument which has been applied to the question under consideration. But the two grants are not, it is conceived, similar in 23 their terms or their nature. Although many of the powers formerly [22 U.S. 1, 199] exercised by the States, are 24 transferred to the government of the Union, yet the State governments remain, and constitute a most important part
25 of our system. The power of taxation is indispensable to their existence, and is a power which, in its own nature, is capable
26 of residing in, and being exercised by, different authorities at the same time. We are accustomed to see it placed, for different
27 purposes, in different hands. Taxation is the simple operation of taking small portions from a perpetually accumulating mass,
28 susceptible of almost infinite division; and a power in one to take what is necessary for certain purposes, is not, in its nature,
29 incompatible with a power in another to take what is necessary for other purposes. Congress is authorized to lay and collect
30 taxes, &c. to pay the debts, and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States. This does
31 not interfere with the power of the States to tax for the support of their own governments; nor is the exercise of that
32 power by the States, an exercise of any portion of the power that is granted to the United States. In imposing taxes for 33 State purposes, they are not doing what Congress is empowered to do. Congress is not empowered to tax for those 34 purposes which are within the exclusive province of the States. When, then, each government exercises the power of 35 taxation, neither is exercising the power of the other. But, when a State proceeds to regulate commerce with foreign 36 nations, or among the several States, it is exercising the very power that is granted to Congress, [22 U.S. 1, 200] and 37 is doing the very thing which Congress is authorized to do. There is no analogy, then, between the power of taxation

28 "As stated by Judge [157 U.S. 429, 602] Cooley in his work on the Principles of Constitutional Law: 'The power to tax,
29 whether by the United States or by the states, is to be construed in the light of and limited by the fact that the states and the 30 Union are inseparable, and that the constitution contemplates the perpetual maintenance of each with all its constitutional
31 powers, unembarrassed and unimpaired by any action of the other. The taxing power of the federal government does not 32 therefore extend to the means or agencies through or by the employment of which the states perform their essential functions;
33 since, if these were within its reach, they might be embarrassed, and perhaps wholly paralyzed, by the burdens it should 34 impose. 'That the power to tax involves the power to destroy; that the power to destroy may defeat and render useless the 35 power to create; that there is a plain repugnance in conferring on one government a power to control the constitutional
36 measures of another, which other, in respect to those very measures, is declared to be supreme over that which exerts the 37 control,-are propositions not to be denied.' It is true that taxation does not necessarily and unavoidably destroy, and that to 38 carry it to the excess of destruction would be an abuse not to be anticipated; but the very power would take from the states a
39 portion of their intended liberty of independent action within the sphere of their powers, and would constitute to the state a
40 perpetual danger of embarrassment and possible annihilation. The constitution contemplates no such shackles upon state

42 "The IRS is an extraordinary example of the end justifying the means. The means of this agency is growth. It is interesting
43 that the revenue officers within the IRS refer to taxpayers as 'inventory'. The IRS embodies the political realities of the selfish
44 human desire to dominate others. Thus the end of this gigantic pretense of officialdom is power, pure and simple. The meek 45 may inherit the earth, but they will never receive a promotion in an agency where efficiency is measured by the number of 46 seizures of taxpayers' property and by the number of citizens and businesses driven into bankruptcy."

38 "I am not among those who fear the people. They, and not the rich, are our dependence for continued freedom. And to preserve
39 their independence, we must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt. We must make our election between economy and 40 liberty, or profusion and servitude. If we run into such debts, as that we must be taxed in our meat and our drink, in our 41 necessities and our comforts, in our labors and our amusements, for our callings and our creeds, as the people of England are,
42 our people, like them, must come to labor sixteen hours in the twenty-four, give the earnings of fifteen of those to the 43 government for their debts and daily expenses; and the sixteenth being insufficient to afford us bread, we must live, as they 44 do now, on oatmeal and potatoes; have no time to think, no means of calling the mismanagers to account; but be glad to 45 obtain subsistence by hiring ourselves to rivet their chains on the necks of our fellow-sufferers."

47 15 SOVEREIGNTY AND SEPARATION OF POWERS¹¹

48 "We of this mighty western Republic have to grapple with the dangers that spring from popular self-government tried on a 49 scale incomparably vaster than ever before in the history of mankind, and from an abounding material prosperity greater also 50 than anything which the world has hitherto seen.

1 As regards the first set of dangers, it behooves us to remember that men can never escape being governed. Either they must
2 govern themselves or they must submit to being governed by others. If from lawlessness or fickleness, from folly or self-
3 indulgence, they refuse to govern themselves then most assuredly in the end they will have to be governed from the outside.
4 They can prevent the need of government from without only by showing they possess the power of government from within.
5 A sovereign cannot make excuses for his failures; a sovereign must accept the responsibility for the exercise of power that
6 inheres in him; and where, as is true in our Republic, the people are sovereign, then the people must show a sober
7 understanding and a sane and steadfast purpose if they are to preserve that orderly liberty upon which as a foundation every 8 republic must rest.”

9 [President Theodore Roosevelt; Opening of the Jamestown Exposition; Norfolk, VA, April 26, 1907]

11
12 “It will be sufficient to observe briefly that the sovereignities in Europe, and particularly in England, exist on feudal
13 principles. That system considers the Prince as the sovereign, and the people as his subjects; it regards his person as the 14 object of allegiance, and excludes the idea of his being on an equal footing with a subject, either in a court of justice or 15 elsewhere. That system contemplates him as being the fountain of honor and authority, and from his grace and grant derives 16 all franchises, immunities and privileges; it is easy to perceive that such a sovereign could not be amenable to a court of 17 justice, or subjected to judicial controul and actual constraint. It was of necessity, therefore, that suability became 18 incompatible with such sovereignty. Besides, the Prince having all the Executive powers, the judgment of the courts would,
19 in fact, be only monitory, not mandatory to him, and a capacity to be advised is a distinct thing from a capacity to be sued.
20 The same feudal ideas run through all their jurisprudence, and constantly remind us of the distinction between the Prince and 21 the subject. No such ideas obtain here; at the Revolution, the sovereignty devolved on the people, and they are truly the
22 sovereigns of the country, but they are sovereigns without subjects (unless the African slaves among us may be so called),
23 and have none to govern but themselves; the citizens of America are equal as fellow citizens, and as joint tenants in the 24 sovereignty.”

25 [Chisholm v. Georgia, 2 U.S. 419, 471-472 (1793) (Jay, Chief Justice)]

26
27 “I shall notice one idea more in defense of the act, and only one. It is the appeal made in the preamble to the sovereign power
28 of the State. I do not admit that there is any sovereign power, in the literal meaning of the terms, to be found anywhere in our 29 system of government. The people possess, as it regards their governments, a revolutionary sovereign power: but so long as 30 the governments remain which they have instituted, to establish justice and —to secure the enjoyment of the rights of life,
31 liberty and property, and of pursuing happiness,” sovereign power, or, which I take to be the same thing, power without 32 limitation, is nowhere to be found in any branch or department of the government, either state or national, nor indeed of all
33 of them put together. The Constitution of the United States expressly forbids the passage of any bill of attainder, or ex post
34 facto law, or the granting of any title of nobility, by the general or the state government. The same instrument likewise limits
35 the powers of the general government to those expressly granted, and places many other restrictions upon the power of state
36 governments. The constitutions of the different States likewise contain many prohibitions and limitations of power. The tenth
37 article of our State constitution, consisting of twenty-eight sections, is made up of restrictions and prohibitions upon 38 legislative and judicial power, and concludes with the emphatic declaration, —that everything in this article is excerpted out
39 of the general powers of government, and shall forever remain inviolate; and that all laws contrary thereto, or contrary to this 40 constitution, shall be void.”

41
42 “These numerous limitations and restrictions prove that the idea of sovereignty in government was not tolerated by the wise
43 founders of our systems. ‘Sovereign State’ are cabalistic words not understood by the disciple of liberty who has been in our 44 constitutional schools. It is an appropriate phrase when applied to an absolute despotism. I firmly believe that the idea of 45 sovereign power in the government of a republic is incompatible with the existence and permanent foundation of civil liberty
46 and the rights of property. The history of man in all ages shown the necessity of the strongest checks upon power, whether it
47 be exercised by one man, a few, or many. Our revolution broke up the foundations of sovereignty in government, and our 48 written constitutions have carefully guarded against the baneful influence of such an idea henceforth and forever. I cannot,
49 therefore, recognize the appeal to the sovereignty of the States as a justification of the act in question. | - Id. at 500-501

54 “The idea of sovereignty, which obtained at the time of the Revolution, regarded as the essential attributes of sovereignty, 55 inequality and unlimited power. Inequality and personal superiority were repudiated by the Declaration of Independence.
56 What was substituted in its stead? Certainly, so far as this question is concerned, they acted upon an entirely different
57 principle. I may add, upon one never before practiced in any country, viz.: The one just mentioned, that power is never to be

37 “Now, a grant of corporate existence is a grant of special privileges to the incorporators, enabling them to act for certain 38 designated purposes as a single individual, and exempting them (unless otherwise specifically provided) from individual

40 sovereignty where created. As said by this court in Bank of Augusta v. Earle, ‘It must dwell in the place of its creation and 41 cannot migrate to another sovereignty.’ The recognition of its existence even by other States, and the enforcement of its 42 contracts made therein, depend purely upon the comity of those States—a comity which is never extended where the existence 43 of the corporation or the exercise of its powers are prejudicial to their interests or repugnant to their policy.”

7 by that instrument, they possess and exercise the authority of independent States, and the principles of public law to 8 which we have referred are applicable to them. One of these principles is, that every State possesses exclusive
9 jurisdiction and sovereignty over persons and property within its territory. As a consequence, every State has the power
10 to determine for itself the civil status [e.g. citizenship] and capacities of its inhabitants; to prescribe the subjects upon which 11 they may contract, the forms and solemnities with which their contracts shall be executed, the rights and obligations arising 12 from them, and the mode in which their validity shall be determined and their obligations enforced; and also the regulate the 13 manner and conditions upon which property situated within such territory, both personal and real, may be acquired, enjoyed,
14 and transferred. The other principle of public law referred to follows from the one mentioned; that is, that no State can 15 exercise direct jurisdiction and authority over persons or property without its territory. Story, Confl. Laws, c. 2; Wheat.
16 Int. Law, pt. 2, c. 2. The several States are of equal dignity and authority, and the independence of one implies the

20 “Every State or nation possesses an exclusive sovereignty and jurisdiction within her own territory, and her laws affect and 21 bind all property and persons residing within it. It may regulate the manner and circumstances under which property is held,
22 and the condition, capacity, and state of all persons therein, and also the remedy and modes of administering justice. And it
23 is equally true that no State or nation can affect or bind property out of its territory, or persons not residing within it.
24 No State therefore can enact laws to operate beyond its own dominions, and if it attempts to do so, it may be lawfully refused
25 obedience. Such laws can have no inherent authority extraterritorially. This is the necessary result of the independence of 26 distinct and separate sovereignties.”

27
28 Now it follows from these principles that whatever force or effect the laws of one State or nation may have in the territories

9 We start with first principles. The Constitution creates a Federal Government of enumerated powers. See U.S. Const., Art. I,

1 "In Calder v. Bull, which was here in 1798, Mr. Justice Chase said, that there were acts which the Federal and State
2 legislatures could not do without exceeding their authority, and among them he mentioned a law which punished a
3 citizen for an innocent act; a law that destroyed or impaired the lawful private [labor] contracts [and labor compensation, e.g.
4 earnings from employment through compelled W-4 withholding] of citizens; a law that made a man judge in his own case;
5 and a law that took the property from A [the worker], and gave it to B [the government or another citizen, such as
6 through social welfare programs]. 'It is against all reason and justice,' he added, 'for a people to intrust a legislature
7 with such powers, and therefore it cannot be presumed that they have done it. They may command what is right and 8 prohibit what is wrong; but they cannot change innocence into guilt, or punish innocence as a crime, or violate the 9 right of an antecedent lawful private [employment] contract [by compelling W-4 withholding, for instance], or the 10 right of private property. To maintain that a Federal or State legislature possesses such powers [of THEFT!] if they

19 And he supported this conclusion by a review of all the acts of congress under which states had theretofore been admitted.

28 “The jurisdiction of the nation within its own territory is [169 U.S. 649, 684] necessarily exclusive and absolute. It is 29 susceptible of no limitation not imposed by itself. Any restriction upon it, deriving validity from an external source, would 30 imply a diminution of its sovereignty to the extent of the restriction, and an investment of that sovereignty to the same extent
31 in that power which could impose such restriction. All exceptions, therefore, to the full and complete power of a nation
32 within its own territories, must be traced up to the consent of the nation itself. They can flow from no other legitimate

1 17 LAW, LAWYERS, JUDGES, AND JURY NULLIFICATION ...¹⁷

2 “When we consider the nature and theory of our institutions of government, the principles upon which they are supposed to
3 rest, and review the history of their development, we are constrained to conclude that they do not mean to leave room for the
4 play and action of purely personal and arbitrary power. Sovereignty itself is, of course, not subject to law, for it is the author
5 and source of law; but in our system, while sovereign powers are delegated to the agencies of government, sovereignty itself
6 remains with the people, by whom and for whom all government exists and acts. And the law is the definition and limitation 7 of power.”

8 [Downes v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 244 (1901)]

9 _____
10 Municipal law, thus understood, is properly defined to be "a rule of civil conduct prescribed by the supreme power in a state, 11 commanding what is right and prohibiting what is wrong."

12 [. . .]

13 It is also called a rule to distinguish it from a compact or agreement; for a compact is a promise proceeding from us, law
14 is a command directed to us. The language of a compact is, "I will, or will not, do this"; that of a law is, "thou shalt, or shalt 15 not, do it." It is true there is an obligation which a compact carries with it, equal in point of conscience to that of a law; but 16 then the original of the obligation is different. In compacts we ourselves determine and promise what shall be done,
17 before we are obliged to do it; in laws, we are obliged to act without ourselves determining or promising anything at 18 all. Upon these accounts law is defined to be "a rule."

21 I’ve had it with you! You’re hopeless, you religion scholars, you Pharisees [lawyers within a theocracy]! Frauds! Your lives
22 are roadblocks to God’s kingdom. You refuse to enter, and won’t let anyone else in either.

23 “You’re hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees [lawyers within a theocracy]! Frauds! You go halfway around the 24 world to make a convert, but once you get him you make him into a replica of yourselves, double-damned.

25 “You’re hopeless! What arrogant stupidity! You say, ‘If someone makes a promise with his fingers crossed, that’s nothing;
26 but if he swears with his hand on the Bible, that’s serious.’ What ignorance! Does the leather on the Bible carry more weight
27 than the skin on your hands? And what about this piece of trivia: ‘If you shake hands on a promise, that’s nothing; but if you
28 raise your hand that God is your witness, that’s serious?’ What ridiculous hairsplitting! What difference does it make whether 29 you shake hands or raise hands? A promise is a promise. What difference does it make if you make your promise inside or 30 outside a house of worship? A promise is a promise. God is present, watching and holding you to account regardless.

31 “You’re hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees[lawyers within a theocracy]! Frauds! You keep meticulous account
32 books, tithing on every nickel and dime you get, but on the meat of God’s Law, things like fairness and compassion and 33 commitment—the absolute basics!—you carelessly take it or leave it. Careful bookkeeping is commendable, but the basics
34 are required. Do you have any idea how silly you look, writing a life story that’s wrong from start to finish, nitpicking over 35 commas and semicolons?

36 “You’re hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees[lawyers within a theocracy]! Frauds! You burnish the surface of your 37 cups and bowls so they sparkle in the sun, while the insides are maggoty with your greed and gluttony. Stupid Pharisee! Scour 38 the insides, and then the gleaming surface will mean something.

39 “You’re hopeless, you religion scholars and Pharisees[lawyers within a theocracy]! Frauds! You’re like manicured grave
40 plots, grass clipped and the flowers bright, but six feet down it’s all rotting bones and worm-eaten flesh. People look at you 41 and think you’re saints, but beneath the skin you’re total frauds.

4 the death count.

5 “Snakes! Reptilian sneaks! Do you think you can worm your way out of this? Never have to pay the piper? It’s on account
6 of people like you that I send prophets and wise guides and scholars generation after generation—and generation after 7 generation you treat them like dirt, greeting them with lynch mobs, hounding them with abuse.

8 “You can’t squirm out of this: Every drop of righteous blood ever spilled on this earth, beginning with the blood of that good
9 man Abel right down to the blood of Zechariah, Barachiah’s son, whom you murdered at his prayers, is on your head. All 10 this, I’m telling you, is coming down on you, on your generation.

11 “Jerusalem! Jerusalem! Murderer of prophets! Killer of the ones who brought you God’s news! How often I’ve ached to 12 embrace your children, the way a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, and you wouldn’t let me. And now you’re so
13 desolate, nothing but a ghost town. What is there left to say? Only this: I’m out of here soon. The next time you see me you’ll 14 say, ‘Oh, God has blessed him! He’s come, bringing God’s rule!’”

18 “Power and law are not synonymous. In truth, they are frequently in opposition and irreconcilable. There is God’s Law from 19 which all equitable laws of man emerge and by which men must live if they are not to die in oppression, chaos and despair.
20 Divorced from God’s eternal and immutable Law, established before the founding of the suns, man’s power is evil no matter
21 the noble words with which it is employed or the motives urged when enforcing it. Men of good will, mindful therefore of 22 the Law laid down by God, will oppose governments whose rule is by men, and if they wish to survive as a nation they will 23 destroy the government which attempts to adjudicate by the whim of venal judges.”

29 "True Law is right reason in agreement with Nature, it is of universal application, unchanging and everlasting; it summons to 30 duty by its commands and averts from wrong-doing by its prohibitions. And it does not lay its commands or prohibitions
31 upon good men in vain, although neither have any effect upon the wicked. It is a sin to try to alter this law, nor is it allowable
32 to try to repeal a part of it, and it is impossible to abolish it entirely. We cannot be freed from its obligations by Senate or 33 People, and we need not look outside ourselves for an expounder or interpreter of it. And there will not be different laws at 34 Rome or at Athens, or different laws now and in the future, but one eternal and unchangeable law will be valid for all times
35 and all nations, and there will be one master and one rule, that is God, for He is the author of this law, its promulgator, and 36 its enforcing judge."

40 “The Law and Charity: You say: "There are persons who have no money," and you turn to the law, but the law is not a breast
41 that fills itself with milk. Nor are the lacteal veins of the law supplied with milk from a source outside the society. Nothing 42 can enter the public treasury for the benefit of one citizen or one class unless other citizens and other classes have been forced 43 to send it in. If every person draws from the treasury the amount that he has put in it, it is true that the law then 44 plunders nobody. But this procedure does nothing for the persons who have no money. It does not promote equality
45 of income. The law can be an instrument of equalization only as it takes from some persons and gives to other persons.
46 When the law does this, it is an instrument of plunder.

50 “Law Is a Negative Concept: The harmlessness of the mission performed by law and lawful defense is self-evident; the 51 usefulness is obvious; and the legitimacy cannot be disputed.

1 As a friend of mine once remarked, this negative concept of law is so true that the statement, the purpose of the law is to
2 cause justice to reign, is not a rigorously accurate statement. It ought to be stated that the purpose of the law is to prevent
3 injustice from reigning. In fact, it is injustice, instead of justice, that has an existence of its own. Justice is achieved only 4 when injustice is absent.

5
6 But when the law, by means of its necessary agent, force, imposes upon men a regulation of labor, a method or a
7 subject of education, a religious faith or creed - then the law is no longer negative; it acts positively upon people. It
8 substitutes the will of the legislator for their own initiatives. When this happens, the people no longer need to discuss,
9 to compare, to plan ahead; the law does all this for them. Intelligence becomes a useless prop for the people; they cease
10 to be men; they lose their personality, their liberty, their property.

11
12 Try to imagine a regulation of labor imposed by force that is not a violation of liberty; a transfer of wealth imposed by force
13 that is not a violation of property. If you cannot reconcile these contradictions, then you must conclude that the law cannot 14 organize labor and industry without organizing injustice.”

18 “Men do not make laws. They do but discover them. Laws must be justified by something more than the will of the majority.
19 They must rest on the eternal foundation of righteousness. That state is most fortunate in its form of government which has

24 NATURAL LAW: A rule of conduct arising out of natural relations of human beings, established by the Creator, and existing 25 prior to any positive precept. Webster. The foundation of this law is placed by the best writers in the will of God, discovered 26 by reason, and aided by divine revelation: and its principles, when applicable, apply with equal obligation to individuals and 27 to nations. 1 Kent. Comm. 2, note: Id. 4, note. See Jus Naturale.

29 The rule and dictate of right reason showing the moral deformity of moral necessity there is in any act, according to its 30 suitability or unsuitability to a reasonable nature. Tayl. Civil Law, 99.

32 This expression, “natural law,” or jus naturale, was largely used in the philosophical speculations of the Roman jurists of the 33 Attonine age, and was intended to denote a system of rules and principles for the guidance of human conduct which,
34 independently of enacted law or of the systems peculiar to any one people, might be discovered by the rational intelligence
35 of man, and would be found to grow out of and conform to his nature, meaning by that word his whole mental, moral, and 36 physical constitution. The point of departure for this conception was the Stoic doctrine of a life ordered “according to nature,” 37 which in its turn rested upon the purely supposititious existence, in primitive times, of a “state of nature;” that is, a condition
38 of society in which men universally were governed solely by a rational and consistent obedience to the needs, impulses, and 39 promptings of their true nature, such nature being as yet undefaced by dishonesty, falsehood, or indulgence of the baser
40 passions. See Maine, Anc. Law, 50 et seq.

41
42 We understand all laws to be either human or divine, according as they have man or God for their author; and divine
43 laws are of two kinds, that is to say: (1) Natural laws; (2) positive or revealed laws. A natural law is deemed to 44 Burlamaqui to be “a rule which so necessarily agrees with the nature and state of man that, without observing its maxims, the 45 peace and happiness of society can never be preserved.” And he says that these are called “natural laws” because a knowledge 46 of them may be attained merely by the light of reason, from the fact of their essential agreeableness with the constitution of 47 human nature; while, on the contrary, positive or revealed laws are not founded upon the general constitution of human nature,
48 but only upon the will of God; though in other respects such law is established upon very good reason, and procures the 49 advantage of those to whom it is sent. The ceremonial or political laws of the Jews are of this latter class. Borden v. State,

8 "Sometimes the law defends plunder and participates in it. Thus the beneficiaries are spared the shame and danger that their 9 acts would otherwise involve... But how is this legal plunder to be identified? Quite simply. See if the law takes from some 10 persons what belongs to them and gives it to the other persons to whom it doesn't belong. See if the law benefits one citizen
11 at the expense of another by doing what the citizen himself cannot do without committing a crime. Then abolish that law

17 1097, 1100. Mention of one thing implies exclusion of another. When certain persons or things are specified in a law,

41 It is one of the fundamental maxims of the common law that ignorance of the law excuses no one. If ignorance of the 42 law could in all cases be the foundation of a suit in equity for relief, there would be no end of litigation, and the
43 administration of justice would become in effect impracticable. There would be but few cases in which one party or the 44 other would not allege it as a ground for exemption from legal liability, and the extent of the legal knowledge of each
45 individual suitor would be the material fact on which judgment would be founded. Instead of trying the facts of the case and 46 applying the law to such facts, the time of the court would be occupied in determining whether or not the parties knew the 47 law at the time the contract was made or the transaction entered into. The administration of justice in the courts is a practical 48 system for the regulation of the transactions of life in the business world. It assumes, and must assume, that all persons of 49 sound and mature mind know the law, otherwise there would be no security in legal rights and no certainty in judicial 50 investigations."

53 "Regulation - which is based on force and fear - undermines the moral base of business dealings. It becomes cheaper to bribe
54 a building inspector than to meet his standards of construction. A fly-by-night securities operator can quickly meet all the 55 S.E.C. requirements, gain the inference of respectability, and proceed to fleece the public. In an unregulated economy, the 56 operator would have had to spend a number of years in reputable dealings before he could earn a position of trust sufficient
57 to induce a number of investors to place funds with him. Protection of the consumer by regulation is thus illusory."

3 "The constitution, on this hypothesis, is a mere thing of wax in the hands of the judiciary, which they may twist and shape
4 into any form they please. It should be remembered, as an axiom of eternal truth in politics, that whatever power in any
5 government is independent, is absolute also; in theory only, at first, while the spirit of the people is up, but in practice, as fast
6 as that relaxes. Independence can be trusted nowhere but with the people in mass. They are inherently independent of all but

23 "Very soon, every American will be required to register their biological property (that's you and your children) in a national 24 system designed to keep track of the people and that will operate under the ancient system of pledging. By such methodology,
25 we can compel people to submit to our agenda, which will affect our security as a charge back for our fiat paper currency.
26 Every American will be forced to register or suffer being able to work and earn a living. They will be our chattels (property)
27 and we will hold the security interest over them forever, by operation of the lawmerchant under the scheme of secured
28 transactions. Americans, by unknowingly or unwittingly delivering the bills of lading (Birth Certificate) to us will be rendered
29 bankrupt and insolvent, secured by their pledges. They will be stripped of their rights and given a commercial value designed 30 to make us a profit and they will be none the wiser, for not one man in a million could ever figure our plans and, if by accident
31 one or two should figure it out, we have in our arsenal plausible deniability. After all, this is the only logical way to fund
32 government, by floating liens and debts to the registrants in the form of benefits and privileges. This will inevitably reap us
33 huge profits beyond our wildest expectations and leave every American a contributor to this fraud, which we will call "Social

42 and thereafter declined to accept checks as payment for goods, bank deposits would lose their purchasing power and 43 government-created bank credit would be worthless as a claim on goods. The financial policy of the welfare state requires
44 that there be no way for the owners of wealth to protect themselves. This is the shabby secret of the welfare statist's tirades
45 against gold. Deficit spending is simply a scheme for the confiscation of wealth. Gold stands in the way of this insidious
46 process. It stands as a protector of property rights. If one grasps this, one has no difficulty in understanding the statist's 47 antagonism toward the gold standard."

1 [Benjamin Franklin in London, answering an agent of the Rothschild house who asked him how he accounted for the 2 prosperous condition of the Colonies]

3
4 "In one year [1765] the conditions were so reversed that the era of prosperity ended, a depression set in, to such an extent that
5 the streets of the Colonies were filled with unemployed. The Bank of England refused to give more than 50 per cent of the 6 face value of the Script when turned over as required by law. The circulating medium of exchange was thus reduced by half
7 ... the Colonies would gladly have born the little tax on tea and other matters had it not been that England took away from the 8 Colonies their money, which created unemployment and dissatisfaction."

42 "As long as you have your wealth in the form of paper claims, you are prey to swindlers and con men, both those who work
43 through government and those who work outside the law. Since almost all of the manipulation, subterfuge, and theft of your 44 wealth occurs while it is in paper claims, you have a simple and obvious defense; keep your wealth in real goods instead of 45 paper claims. The only safe, rational investment program for the average person in today's turbulent economy is to eliminate 46 the intermediate step. Instead of converting labor into money, money into investments, investments back into money, and 47 money into real goods, simply stated, invest your savings in those real things that you will be consuming in the future. Save 48 only real wealth."

16 "Gold is still the ultimate store of wealth. It's the world's only true money. And there isn't much of it to go around. All of it
17 ever mined would fit into a small building - a 56 foot cube. The annual world production would fit into a 14 foot cube, roughly
18 the size of an ordinary living room. If each Chinese citizen were to buy just one ounce, it would take up the annual supply 19 for the next 200 years."
20 [Mark Nestmann, author of "How To Achieve Personal And Financial Privacy In A Public Age"]
21
22 "I see in the near future a crisis approaching. It unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country ... the 52 "The monetary managers are fond of telling us that they have substituted 'responsible money management' for the gold 54 hyperinflation, devaluation and monetary chaos."

55 [Henry Hazlitt]

34 "The few who can understand the system will either be so interested in its profits, or so dependent on its favors, that there
35 will be no opposition from that class, while on the other hand, the great body of the people, mentally incapable of

37 perhaps without even suspecting that the system is inimical to their interests."
38 [John Sherman, protege of the Rothschild banking family, in a letter sent in 1863 to New York Bankers, Ikleheimer, Morton,
39 and Gould, in support of the then proposed National Banking Act]

40
41 "... we conclude that the [Federal] Reserve Banks are not federal ... but are independent, privately owned and locally controlled 42 corporations ... without day to day direction from the federal government.."
43 [Lewis v. United States, 9th Circuit Court, June 24, 1982]

45 "Some people think the Federal Reserve Banks are U.S. government institutions. They are not ... they are private credit
46 monopolies which prey upon the people of the U.S. for the benefit of themselves and their foreign and domestic swindlers,
47 and rich and predatory money lenders. The sack of the United States by the Fed is the greatest crime in history. Every effort
48 has been made by the Fed to conceal its powers, but the truth is the Fed has usurped the government. It controls everything
49 here and it controls all our foreign relations. It makes and breaks governments at will."
50 [Congressman Charles McFadden, Chairman, House Banking and Currency Committee, June 10, 1932]

51
52 "When you or I write a check there must be sufficient funds in our account to cover that check, but when the Federal Reserve

57 [Art Rolnick, former Chief Economist, Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank]

1
2 "Historically, the United States has been a hard money country. Only [since 1913] has the United States operated on a fiat
3 money system. During this period, paper money has depreciated over 87%. During the preceding 140 year period, the hard
4 currency of the United States had actually maintained its value. Wholesale prices in 1913 ... were the same as in 1787."
5 [Kenneth Gerbino, former chairman of the American Economic Council]

6
7 "About all a Federal Reserve note can legally do is wipe out one debt and replace it with itself, another debt, a note that 8 promises nothing. If anything's been paid, the payment occurs only in the minds of the parties"
9 [Tupper Saucy, author of "The Miracle On Main Street"]

11 "By a continuing process of inflation, governments can confiscate, secretly and unobserved, an important part of the wealth
12 of their citizens. There is no subtler, no surer means of overturning the existing basis of society than to debauch the currency.
13 The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one
14 man in a million is able to diagnose ... If, however, a government refrains from regulations and allows matters to take their 15 course, essential commodities soon attain a level of price out of the reach of all but the rich, the worthlessness of the money
16 becomes apparent, and the fraud upon the public can be concealed no longer."
17 [John Maynard Keynes, economist and author of "The Economic Consequences Of The Peace" (1920)]

19 "The law of supply and demand is not to be conned. As the supply of money (of claims) increases relative to the supply of 20 tangible assets in the economy, prices must eventually rise. Thus, the earnings saved by the productive members of the society
21 lose value in terms of goods. When the economy's books are finally balanced, one finds that this loss in value represents the 22 goods purchased by the government for welfare or other purposes with the money proceeds of the government bonds financed
23 by bank credit expansion."

31 "The truly unique power of a central bank, after all, is the power to create money, and ultimately the power to create is the 32 power to destroy."

35 "... a fiat money is a medium of exchange composed of some intrinsically valueless substance which the issuer does not
36 promise to redeem in a commodity or a fiduciary money. Because a fiat money has no direct legal connexion to a commodity
37 money (in terms of redemption) and, therefore, no real economic cost to its production, the supply of a fiat money can never 38 be self-limiting; and the value of a fiat money is always largely a matter of public confidence in the economic or political 39 stability of the issuer. For these reasons, historically almost all fiat monies have self-destructed in what is popularly called 40 "hyperinflation" (that is, extreme decreases in the purchasing-power) caused by either unlimited increases in the supply of 41 those fiat monies by the issuers or accelerating loss of public confidence in the continued value of the money or economic or 42 political fortunes of their issuers, or both."

47 "If the holders of these promises to pay started in to demand gold the first comers would get gold for a few days and they 48 would amount to about one twenty-fifth of the holders of the securities and the currency. The other twenty-four people out
49 of twenty-five, who did not happen to be at the top of the line, would be told politely that there was no more gold left. We 50 have decided to treat all twenty-five in the same way in the interest of justice and the exercise of the constitutional powers of 51 this government. We have placed every one on the same basis in order that the general good may be preserved."

54 "Inflation has now been institutionalized at a fairly constant 5% per year. This has been scientifically determined to be the 55 optimum level for generating the most revenue without causing public alarm. A 5% devaluation applies, not only to the 56 money earned this year, but to all that is left over from previous years. At the end of the first year, a dollar is worth 95 cents.
57 At the end of the second year, the 95 cents is reduced again by 5%, leaving its worth at 90 cents, and so on. By the time a

1 person has worked 20 years, the government will have confiscated 64% of every dollar he saved over those years. By the
2 time he has worked 45 years, the hidden tax will be 90%. The government will take virtually everything a person saves over 3 a lifetime."

5
6 "The real truth of the matter is, and you and I know, that a financial element in the large centers has owned the government
7 of the U.S. since the days of Andrew Jackson. History depicts Andrew Jackson as the last truly honorable and incorruptible
8 American president."

9 [President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, November 23, 1933 in a letter to Colonel Edward Mandell House]

11 "The Founding Fathers of this great land had no difficulty whatsoever understanding the agenda of bankers, and they 12 frequently referred to them and their kind as, quote, "friends of paper money. They hated the Bank of England, in particular,
13 and felt that even were we successful in winning our independence from England and King George, we could never truly be 14 a nation of freemen, unless we had an honest money system. Through ignorance, but moreover, because of apathy, a small,
15 but wealthy, clique of power brokers have robbed us of our Rights and Liberties, and we are being raped of our wealth. We 16 are paying the price for the near-comatose levels of complacency by our parents, and only God knows what might become 17 of our children, should we not work diligently to shake this country from its slumber! Many a nation has lost its freedom at 18 the end of a gun barrel, but here in America, we just decided to hand it over voluntarily. Worse yet, we paid for the tyranny 19 and usurpation out of our own pockets with "voluntary" tax contributions and the use of a debt-laden fiat currency!."

38 [President James A. Garfield]

39
40 "Emitting bills of credit, or the creation of money by private corporations, is what is expressly forbidden by Article 1, Section
41 10 of the U.S. Constitution."

7 "The distress and alarm which pervaded and agitated the whole country when the Bank of the United States waged war upon
8 the people in order to compel them to submit to its demands can not yet be forgotten....Yet, if you had not conquered, the 9 Government would have passed from the hands of the many to the hands of the few, and this organized money power from 10 its secret conclave would have dictated the choice of your highest officers and compelled you to make peace or war, as best
11 suited their own wishes. The forms of your Government might for a time have remained, but its living spirit would have 12 departed from it. The distress and sufferings inflicted on the people by the bank are some of the fruits of that system of policy
13 which is continually striving to enlarge the authority of the Federal Government beyond the limits fixed by the 14 Constitution....The power which moneyed interest can exercise, when concentrated under a single head and with our present
15 system of currency, was sufficiently demonstrated in the struggle made by the Bank of the United States....The paper-money
16 system and its natural associations - monopoly and exclusive privileges - have already struck their root too deep in the soil,
17 and it will require all your efforts to check its further growth and to eradicate the evil. The men who profit by the abuses and 18 desire to perpetuate them will continue to besiege the halls of legislation in the General Government...and will seek by every 19 artifice to mislead and deceive the public servants...."

45

46 "It is a cruel thought, that, when we feel ourselves standing on the firmest ground in every respect, the cursed arts of our

1 The conditions of the loan seem to us to touch very nearly the administrative independence of China itself; and this
2 administration does not feel that it ought, even by implication, to be a party to those conditions. The responsibility on its part 3 which would be implied in requesting the bankers to undertake the loan might conceivably go to the length, in some
4 unhappy contingency, of forcible interference in the financial, and even the political, affairs of that great Oriental
5 state, just now awakening to a consciousness of its power and of its obligations to its people.

6
7 The conditions include not only the pledging of particular taxes, some of them antiquated and burdensome, to secure the 8 loan but also the administration of those taxes by foreign agents. The responsibility on the part of our government implied
9 in the encouragement of a loan thus secured and administered is plain enough and is obnoxious to the principles upon which

12 19 THE MILITIA AND THE RIGHT TO BEAR ARMS ...¹⁹

13 "What, Sir, is the use of a militia? It is to prevent the establishment of a standing army, the bane of liberty. ... Whenever

17 750, August 17, 1789]

19 "Firearms stand next in importance to the Constitution itself. They are the American people's liberty teeth and keystone under 20 independence. From the hour the Pilgrims landed, to the present day, events, occurrences and tendencies prove that to ensure 21 peace, security and happiness, the rifle and pistol are equally indispensable. The very atmosphere of firearms everywhere 22 restrains evil interference - they deserve a place of honor with all that's good."

37 [George Washington, in his First Annual Address, January 8, 1790]

38
39 "Gun Control? It's the best thing you can do for crooks and gangsters. I want you to have nothing. If I'm a bay guy, I'm always

2 20 FRANCHISES, BENEFITS, WELFARE STATE²⁰

3 FRANCHISE. A special privilege conferred by government on individual or corporation, and which does not belong
4 to citizens of country generally of common right. Elliott v. City of Eugene, 135 Or. 108, 294 P. 358, 360. In England it
5 is defined to be a royal privilege in the hands of a subject.

6
7 A "franchise," as used by Blackstone in defining quo warranto, (3 Com. 262 [4th Am. Ed.] 322), had reference to a royal 8 privilege or branch of the king's prerogative subsisting in the hands of the subject, and must arise from the king's grant,
9 or be held by prescription, but today we understand a franchise to be some special privilege conferred by government on 10 an individual, natural or artificial, which is not enjoyed by its citizens in general. State v. Fernandez, 106 Fla. 779, 143 So.

13 In this country a franchise is a privilege or immunity of a public nature, which cannot be legally exercised without 14 legislative grant. To be a corporation is a franchise. The various powers conferred on corporations are franchises. The 15 execution of a policy of insurance by an insurance company [e.g. Social Insurance/Socialist Security], and the issuing a 16 bank note by an incorporated bank [such as a Federal Reserve NOTE], are franchises. People v. Utica Ins. Co., 15 Johns.
17 (N.Y.) 387, 8 Am.Dec. 243. But it does not embrace the property acquired by the exercise of the franchise. Bridgeport v.
18 New York & N.H. R. Co., 36 Conn. 255, 4 Am.Rep. 63. Nor involve interest in land acquired by grantee. Whitbeck v. Funk, 19 140 Or. 70, 12 P.2d. 1019, 1020. In a popular sense, the political rights of subjects and citizens are franchises, such as 20 the right of suffrage. etc. Pierce v. Emery, 32 N.H. 484; State v. Black Diamond Co., 97 Ohio.St. 24, 119 N.E. 195, 199,

22
23 Elective Franchise. The right of suffrage: the right or privilege of voting in public elections.

24
25 Exclusive Franchise. See Exclusive Privilege or Franchise.

26
27 General and Special. The charter of a corporation is its "general" franchise, while a "special" franchise consists in any 28 rights granted by the public to use property for a public use but-with private profit. Lord v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 29 194 N.Y. 212, 87 N.E. 443, 22 L.R.A. (N.S.) 420.

31 Personal Franchise. A franchise of corporate existence, or one which authorizes the formation and existence of a corporation,
32 is sometimes called a "personal" franchise. as distinguished from a "property" franchise, which authorizes a corporation so 33 formed to apply its property to some particular enterprise or exercise some special privilege in its employment, as, for 34 example, to construct and operate a railroad. See Sandham v. Nye, 9 Misc.Rep. 541, 30 N.Y.S. 552.

35 Secondary Franchises. The franchise of corporate existence being sometimes called the "primary" franchise of a corporation, 36 its "secondary" franchises are the special and peculiar rights, privileges, or grants which it may, receive under its charter or
37 from a municipal corporation, such as the right to use the public streets, exact tolls, collect fares, etc. State v. Topeka Water
38 Co., 61 Kan. 547, 60 P. 337; Virginia Canon Toll Road Co. v. People, 22 Colo. 429, 45 P. 398 37 L.R.A. 711. The franchises
39 of a corporation are divisible into (1) corporate or general franchises; and (2) "special or secondary franchises. The former is 40 the franchise to exist as a corporation, while the latter are certain rights and privileges conferred upon existing corporations.
41 Gulf Refining Co. v. Cleveland Trust Co., 166 Miss. 759, 108 So. 158, 160.

43 Special Franchisee. See Secondary Franchises, supra.

21 SOCIALISM (COMMUNISM IN SLOW MOTION) ...²¹

21.1 Secular Quotes

TITLE 50 > CHAPTER 23 > SUBCHAPTER IV > Sec. 841.
Sec. 841. - Findings and declarations of fact

The Congress finds and declares that the Communist Party of the United States [consisting of the IRS, DOJ, and a corrupted federal judiciary], although purportedly a political party, is in fact an instrumentality of a conspiracy to overthrow the [de jure] Government of the United States [and replace it with a de facto government ruled by the judiciary]. It constitutes an authoritarian dictatorship [IRS, DOJ, and corrupted federal judiciary in collusion] within a [constitutional] republic, demanding for itself the rights and [FRANCHISE] privileges [including immunity from prosecution for their wrongdoing in violation of Article 1, Section 9, Clause 8 of the Constitution] accorded to political parties, but denying to all others the liberties [Bill of Rights] guaranteed by the Constitution [Form #10.002]. Unlike political parties, which evolve their policies and programs through public means, by the reconciliation of a wide variety of individual views, and submit those policies and programs to the electorate at large for approval or disapproval, the policies and programs of the Communist Party are secretly [by corrupt judges and the IRS in complete disregard of, Form #05.014, the tax franchise "codes", Form #05.001] prescribed for it by the foreign leaders of the world Communist movement [the IRS and Federal Reserve]. Its members [the Congress, which was terrorized to do IRS bidding by the framing of Congressman Traficant] have no part in determining its goals, and are not permitted to voice dissent to party objectives. Unlike members of political parties, members of the Communist Party are recruited for indoctrination [in the public FOOL system by homosexuals, liberals, and socialists] with respect to its objectives and methods, and are organized, instructed, and disciplined [by the IRS and a corrupted judiciary] to carry into action slavishly the assignments given them by their hierarchical chieftains. Unlike political parties, the Communist Party [thanks to a corrupted federal judiciary] acknowledges no constitutional or statutory limitations upon its conduct or upon that of its members [ANARCHISTS!, Form #08.020]. The Communist Party is relatively small numerically, and gives scant indication of capacity ever to attain its ends by lawful political means. The peril inherent in its operation arises not from its numbers, but from its failure to acknowledge any limitation as to the nature of its activities, and its dedication to the proposition that the present constitutional Government of the United States ultimately must be brought to ruin by any available means, including resort to;force and violence [or using income taxes]. Holding that doctrine, its role as the agency of a hostile foreign power [the Federal Reserve and the American Bar Association (ABA)] renders its existence a clear present and continuing danger to the security of the United States. It is the means whereby individuals are seduced [illegally KIDNAPPED via identity theft!, Form #05.046] into the service of the world Communist movement [using FALSE information returns and other PERJURIOUS government forms, Form #04.001], trained to do its bidding [by FALSE government publications and statements that the government is not accountable for the accuracy of, Form #05.007], and directed and controlled [using FRANCHISES illegally enforced upon NONRESIDENTS, Form #05.030] in the conspiratorial performance of their revolutionary services. Therefore, the Communist Party should be outlawed

[50 U.S.C. §841: Findings and Declarations of Fact]

Mr. Logan: "...Natural laws can not be created, repealed, or modified by legislation. Congress should know there are many things which it can not do..."

"It is now proposed to make the Federal Government the guardian of its citizens. If that should be done, the Nation soon must perish. There can only be a free nation when the people themselves are free and administer the government which they have set up to protect their rights. Where the general government must provide work, and incidentally food and clothing for its citizens, freedom and individuality will be destroyed and eventually the citizens will become serfs to the general government..."

45 21.2 Virginia Church Service Economic Stimulus Sermon

46 VIRGINIA CHURCH SERVICE - STIMULUS SERMON

47 Very little has changed in 4,000 years.

48 Good morning, brothers and sisters; It's always a delight to see the pews crowded on Sunday morning, and so eager to get 49 into God's Word. Turn with me in your Bibles, if you will to the 47th chapter of Genesis, we'll begin our reading at verse 13, 50 and go through verse 27.

51 Brother Ray, would you stand and read that great passage for us?(reading)... Thank you for that fine reading, Brother 52 Ray.

1 So we see that economic hard times fell upon Egypt, and the people turned to the government of Pharaoh to deal with this for
2 them. And Pharaoh nationalized the grain harvest, and placed the grain in great storehouses that he had built. So the people
3 brought their money to Pharaoh, like a great tax increase, and gave it all to him willingly in return for grain. And this went 4 on until their money ran out , and they were hungry again.

5 So when they went to Pharaoh after that, they brought their livestock - their cattle, their horses, their sheep, and their donkey
6 - to barter for grain, and verse 17 says that only took them through the end of that year. But the famine wasn't over, was it?

7 So the next year, the people came before Pharaoh and admitted they had nothing left, except their land and their own lives.
8 "There is nothing left in the sight of my lord but our bodies and our land. Why should we die before your eyes, both we and 9 our land? Buy us and our land for food, and we with our land will be servants to Pharaoh." So they surrendered their homes,
10 their land, and their real estate to Pharaoh's government, and then sold themselves into slavery to him in return for grain.

11 What can we learn from this, brothers and sisters? That turning to the government instead of to God to be our provider in 12 hard times only leads to slavery? Yes! That the only reason government wants to be our provider is to also become our 13 master? Yes!

14 But look how that passage ends, brothers and sisters! Thus Israel settled in the land of Egypt, in the land of Goshen. And they 15 gained possessions in it, and were fruitful and multiplied greatly." God provided for His people, just as He always has! They 16 didn't end up giving all their possessions to government, no, it says they gained possessions!

17 But I also tell you a great truth today, and an ominous one. We see the same thing happening today - the government today
18 wants to "share the wealth" once again, to take it from us and redistribute it back to us. It wants to take control of healthcare,
19 just as it has taken control of education, and ration it back to us, and when government rations it, then government decides
20 who gets it, and how much, and what kind. And if we go along with it, and do it willingly, then we will wind up no differently
21 than the people of Egypt did four thousand years ago - as slaves to the government, and as slaves to our leaders.

22 What Mr. Obama's government is doing now is no different from what Pharaoh's government did then and it will end the 23 same. And a lot of people like to call Mr. Obama a "Messiah," don't they? Is he a Messiah? A savior? Didn't the Egyptians
24 say, after Pharaoh made them his slaves, "You have saved our lives; may it please my lord, we will be servants to Pharaoh"?
25 Well, I tell you this - I know the Messiah; the Messiah is a friend of mine; and Mr. OBAMA IS NO MESSIAH! No, brothers
26 and sisters, if Mr. Obama is a character from the Bible, then he is Pharaoh.

27 Bow with me in prayer, if you will...

28 "Lord, You alone are worthy to be served, and we rely on You, and You alone. We confess that the government is 29 not our deliverer, and never rightly will be. We read in the eighth chapter of 1 Samuel, when Samuel warned the 30 people of what a ruler would do, where it says "And in that day you will cry out because of your king, whom you 31 have chosen for yourselves, but the LORD will not answer you in that day.."

32 "And Lord, we acknowledge that day has come. We cry out to you because of the ruler that we have chosen for 33 ourselves as a nation."

34 Lord, we pray for this nation. We pray for revival, and we pray for deliverance from those who would be our 35 masters. Give us hearts to seek You and hands to serve You, and protect Your people from the atrocities of 36 Pharaoh's government."

37 In God We Trust...Everyone from the government, legal, and political professions we distrust and investigate. Amen.

38 21.3 Catholic Doctrine on Socialism and Communism

PIUS IX (1846-1878)

The Overthrow of Order

“You are aware indeed, that the goal of this most iniquitous plot is to drive people to overthrow the entire order of human affairs and to draw them over to the wicked theories of this Socialism and Communism, by confusing them with perverted teachings.”

[Encyclical Nostis et Nobiscum, December 8, 1849]

Overthrow is Deliberately Planned

“... For, the fear of God and reverence for divine laws being taken away, the authority of rulers despised, sedition permitted and approved, and the popular passions urged on to lawlessness, with no restraint save that of punishment, a change and overthrow of all things will necessarily follow. Yea, this change and overthrow is deliberately planned and put forward by many associations of communists and socialists.”

[Encyclical Humanum Genus, April 20, 1884, n. 27]

Debasing the Natural Union of Man and Woman

“They [socialists, communists, or nihilists] debase the natural union of man and woman, which is held sacred even among barbarous peoples; and its bond, by which the family is chiefly held together, they weaken, or even deliver up to lust.

[Encyclical Quod Apostolici Muneris, December 28, 1878, n. 1]

The Harvest of Misery

“...there is need for a union of brave minds with all the resources they can command. The harvest of misery is before our eyes, and the dreadful projects of the most disastrous national upheavals are threatening us from the growing power of the socialistic movement.”

[Encyclical Graves de Communi Re, January 18, 1901, n. 21]

SAINT PIUS X (1903-1914)

The Dream of Re-Shaping Society will Bring Socialism

“But stranger still, alarming and saddening at the same time, are the audacity and frivolity of men who call themselves Catholics and dream of re-shaping society under such conditions, and of establishing on earth, over and beyond the pale of the Catholic Church, ‘the reign of love and justice’ ... What are they going to produce? ... A mere verbal and chimerical construction in which we shall see, glowing in a jumble, and in seductive confusion, the words Liberty, Justice, Fraternity, Love, Equality, and human exultation, all resting upon an ill-understood human dignity. It will be a tumultuous agitation, sterile for the end proposed, but which will benefit the less Utopian exploiters of the people. Yes, we can truly say that the Sillon, its eyes fixed on a chimera, brings Socialism in its train.”

[Apostolic Letter Notre Charge Apostolique ("Our Apostolic Mandate") to the French Bishops, August 15, 1910, condemning the movement Le Sillon]

BENEDICT XV (1914-1922)

Never Forget the Condemnation of Socialism

“It is not our intention here to repeat the arguments which clearly expose the errors of Socialism and of similar doctrines. Our predecessor, Leo XIII, most wisely did so in truly memorable Encyclicals; and you, Venerable Brethren, will take the greatest care that those grave precepts are never forgotten, but that whenever circumstances call for it, they should be clearly expounded and inculcated in Catholic associations and congresses, in sermons and in the Catholic press.”

[Encyclical Ad Beatissimi Apostolorum, November 1, 1914, n. 13]

PIUS XI (1922-1939)

Socialism Cannot Be Reconciled with Catholic Doctrine

“We make this pronouncement: Whether considered as a doctrine, or an historical fact, or a movement, Socialism, if it remains truly Socialism, even after it has yielded to truth and justice on the points which we have mentioned, cannot be reconciled with the teachings of the Catholic Church because its concept of society itself is utterly foreign to Christian truth.”

[Encyclical Quadragesimo Anno, May 15, 1931, n. 117]

Catholic Socialism is a Contradiction

“[Socialism] is based nevertheless on a theory of human society peculiar to itself and irreconcilable with true Christianity. Religious socialism, Christian socialism, are contradictory terms; no one can be at the same time a good Catholic and a true socialist.” (Ibid. n. 120)

PIUS XII (1939-1958)

The Church Will Fight Socialism to the End

“[The Church undertook] the protection of the individual and the family against a current threatening to bring about a total socialization which in the end would make the specter of the 'Leviathan' become a shocking reality. The Church will fight this battle to the end, for it is a question of supreme values: the dignity of man and the salvation of souls.”

[“Radio message to the Katholikentag of Vienna,” September 14, 1952 in Discorsi e Radiomessaggi, vol. XIV, p. 314]

The All-Powerful State Harms True Prosperity

"To consider the State as something ultimate to which everything else should be subordinated and directed, cannot fail to harm the true and lasting prosperity of nations."

[Encyclical Summi Pontificatus, October 20, 1939, n. 60]

JOHN XXIII (1958-1963)

“No Catholic could subscribe even to moderate socialism”

“Pope Pius XI further emphasized the fundamental opposition between Communism and Christianity, and made it clear that no Catholic could subscribe even to moderate Socialism. The reason is that Socialism is founded on a doctrine of human society which is bounded by time and takes no account of any objective other than that of material well-being. Since, therefore, it proposes a form of social organization which aims solely at production; it places too severe a restraint on human liberty, at the same time flouting the true notion of social authority.”

[Encyclical Mater et Magistra, May 15, 1961, n. 34]

Christians Tend to Idealize Socialism

“Too often Christians attracted by socialism tend to idealize it in terms which, apart from anything else, are very general: a will for justice, solidarity and equality. They refuse to recognize the limitations of the historical socialist movements, which remain conditioned by the ideologies from which they originated.”

[Apostolic Letter Octogesima Adveniens, May 14, 1971, n. 31]

JOHN PAUL II (1978-2005)

Socialism: Danger of a "simple and radical solution"

“It may seem surprising that ‘socialism’ appeared at the beginning of the Pope's critique of solutions to the ‘question of the working class’ at a time when ‘socialism’ was not yet in the form of a strong and powerful State, with all the resources which that implies, as was later to happen. However, he correctly judged the danger posed to the masses by the attractive presentation of this simple and radical solution to the ‘question of the working class.’”

[Encyclical Centesimus Annus - On the 100th anniversary of Pope Leo XIII's Rerum Novarum, May 1, 1991, n. 12]

BENEDICT XVI (2005-2013)

We do not Need a State which Controls Everything

“The State which would provide everything, absorbing everything into itself, would ultimately become a mere bureaucracy incapable of guaranteeing the very thing which the suffering person - every person - needs: namely, loving personal concern. We do not need a State which regulates and controls everything, but a State which, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity, generously acknowledges and supports initiatives arising from the different social forces and combines spontaneity with closeness to those in need. ... In the end, the claim that just social structures would make works of charity superfluous masks a materialist conception of man: the mistaken notion that man can live ‘by bread alone’ (Mt 4:4; cf. Dt 8:3) - a conviction that demeans man and ultimately disregards all that is specifically human.”

[Encyclical Deus Caritas Est, December 25, 2005, n. 28]

1 21.4 LDS Doctrine on Socialism and Communism²²

2 We at SEDM are Christians and not Latter Day Saints. However, the Latter Day Saints (LDS) faith has lots of church doctrine
3 proving that socialism and communism are religions that may be useful to our members. We include it here for reference for 4 those of our readers who are LDS.

5 The content of this section was presented to senior members of the LDS church by a concerned reader. In attendance was 6 also a tax professional in private practice. Their response:

- 7 1. They could not disprove any of these authorities.
- 8 2. They could provide no proof or legal evidence proving that any of these church and scriptural authorities had been 9 rescinded or repealed or superseded.
- 10 3. They absolutely refused to speak about these issues and implement them in their own local church, even though they 11 are still valid doctrine.
- 12 4. They terminated excommunication proceedings against the member originated because they accused the member of 13 establishing their own church in competition with the LDS church. In fact, it was THEY who were establishing and 14 protecting and perpetuating a religion in contradiction to the teachings of their own church.
- 15 5. They told the member who revealed these authorities that they were not allowed to speak publicly in front of the 16 church on any of these subjects, as if to censor the member and prevent the congregation from hearing about the 17 misdeeds and violations of God’s laws by the local pastors. HYPPOCRITES!

18 The following are selected quotes concerning the doctrine of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints concerning 19 socialism, communism, fascism, nazism, etc. are religions and that they are the counterfeit doctrine of Satan established for 20 the purpose of conflicting with Christ’s work.

6 "One of the fundamental doctrines of revealed truth is that ... God endowed men with free agency (see Moses
7 7:32). The preservation of this free agency is more important than the preservation of life itself. ... Everything
8 which militates against man's enjoyment of this endowment persuades not to believe in Christ, for he is the author
9 of free agency.

10 "Now the world today is in the throes of a great social and political revolution. In almost every department of 11 society laws and practices are being daily proposed and adopted which greatly alter the course of our lives.
12 Indeed, some of them are literally shaking the foundations of our political and social institutions. If you would 13 know truth from error in this bitterly contested arena, apply Mormon's test to these innovations [as recorded in 14 Moro. 7:16-18]. Do they facilitate or restrict the exercise of man's divine endowment of free agency? Tested by 15 this standard, most of them will fall quickly into their proper category as between good and evil."

16 [President Marion G. Romney, Council of the Twelve; (Speeches of the Year, Brigham Young University Press, 1957, pp.
17 10-11.)]

19 "Besides the preaching of the Gospel, we have another mission, namely, the perpetuation of the free agency of 20 man and the maintenance of liberty, freedom, and the rights of man. ... We have a right to liberty—that was a
21 right that God gave to all men; and if there has been oppression, fraud or tyranny in the earth, it has been the 22 result of the wickedness and corruptions of men and has always been opposed to God and the principles of truth."

23 [President John Taylor(Journal of Discourses, 23:63.)]

25 "May we take a moment from some of the side issues and from some of the irrelevant celebration, and clear our 26 thoughts and humble our hearts and get down on our knees and simply, fervently, thank God for freedom—and 27 then get on our feet with a firm resolve to preserve it against all who secretly or openly would set it aside.

28 "Thank God for freedom—and for the Founding Fathers who reaffirmed to a new nation, an eternal, timeless
29 truth: that the right of choice—that the free agency of man—is a God-given inalienable right, and is essential to 30 the peace and growth and progress and salvation of the very soul.

31 "This truth has been challenged again and again, and will yet be challenged again and again. It was challenged
32 in the heavens before time began, by the brilliant but rebellious Lucifer. There was war in heaven—for freedom.
33 And anyone who seeks to enslave men in any sense, in mind, in spirit, in thought—anyone who seeks to enslave
34 the minds, the hearts, the spirits of men is essentially in league with Satan himself—for "where the Spirit of 35 the Lord is, there is liberty"
36 [2 Cor. 3:17].

37 "Thank God for the Constitution of our country, which was brought into being by the 'hands of wise men whom 38 [the Lord God] raised up unto this very purpose' [D&C 101:80]. Thank God for the promise that in this choice 39 land, men 'shall be free from bondage, and from captivity, and from all other nations under heaven, if they will
40 but serve' God
41 [Ether 2:12].

42 "Thank God for the right of choice, for the right to become whatever we can become in a free and provident land
43 that, despite its imperfections, has proved to be more efficient for progress and human happiness than any society
44 founded on the false philosophies that would seek to enslave the minds and souls of men.

45 "God grant that we may repent wherever we have departed from the principles of freedom—that we may preserve
46 the right to fail and the incentive to succeed, and live, as did the Founding Fathers, knowing that there are no 47 acceptable substitutes for freedom."

1 Former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson at a BYU Devotional, October 25, 1966 entitled "Our Immediate 2 Responsibility."

4 *Our civilization and our people are seemingly afraid to be revolutionary. We are too 'broadminded' to challenge
5 what we do not believe in. We are afraid of being thought intolerant, uncouth, ungentlemanly. We have become 6 lukewarm in our beliefs. And for that we perhaps merit the bitter condemnation stated in Revelation 3:16: "So 7 then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth."*

8 *This is a sad commentary on a civilization which has given to mankind the greatest achievements and progress
9 ever known. But it is an even sadder commentary on those of us who call ourselves Christians, who thus betray 10 the ideals given to us by the Son of God himself.*

11 Ezra Taft Benson, former Secretary of Agriculture under Eisenhower, October 1960

13 *We are placed on this earth to work and the earth will give us a living. . . . It is our duty to strive to till the earth,
14 subdue matter, conquer the glebe, take care of the flocks and the herds. It is the government's duty to see that you
15 are protected in it, and no other man has the right to deprive you of any of your privileges. But it is not the 16 government's duty to support you.*

17 I shall raise my voice as long as God gives me sound or ability, against the communistic idea that the government 18 will take care of us all, and that everything belongs to the government. . . .

19 *It is wrong! No wonder in trying to perpetuate that idea, that men become anti-Christ, because those teachings
20 strike directly at the doctrines of the Savior.*

21 *No government owes you a living. . . . You get it yourself by your own acts—never by trespassing upon the rights
22 of your neighbor, never by cheating him. You put a blemish upon your character the moment you do.*

23 David O. McKay, Church News, 14 Mar. 1953, pp. 4, 15.

25 *I fear this, that under existing conditions we are gradually drifting toward a paternal government, a government
26 which will so intrench itself that the people will become powerless to disrupt it, in which the lives and liberty of 27 the people at large may be jeopardized. They are pouring millions of dollars in this time of need into sources for 28 the benefit of the people and it is a great benefit and perhaps salvation, but it is going to result in this--I am going 29 to make this statement--that if the present policy is continued it will not be long until the government will be in 30 the banking business, it will be in the farming business, it will be in the cattle and sheep business, for many of 31 these debts will never be paid. That will mean the appointment of innumerable agencies. The government now is 32 overloaded with commissions and agencies, some of them administering the very laws that Congress itself has 33 enacted. Someone else should be administering those laws. If you want to save yourselves from the bondage of 34 debt and political influences which are not of your own choosing I ask you to think of what I have said.*

35 President Anthony W. Ivins, General Conference, October 1932

37 *In a despotism, an absolute monarchy, where the king rules, and the people only submit, great is the obligation
38 of the king, but the individual citizen's obligation is correspondingly less. In our own government, where the 39 people rule, each individual citizen is a ruler in the nation and great is his responsibility; great are the obligations
40 that rest upon him by reason of that citizenship, for he himself is a ruler, a sovereign, and helps to form and 41 fashion the government of which he is one of its rulers. If we have good government it is because the individual
42 citizens are good. If we have a bad government it is because the individual citizens are bad. That applies not only 43 to the nation at large, but to the state, to the county and to the city.*

44 Elder Rulon S. Wells, General Conference, October 1921

1 Secularism also produced an artificial sense of security. A good example of this is what has happened to our
2 Social Security system in America. Principles gave way to political promises, and the secular theology with its
3 cast your care upon Social Security has now exposed its hollowness like the billboard outside Chicago ten years
4 ago that read, Borrow enough from us to get completely out of debt. Sad as it is to say it, the hard choices ahead
5 for the nation regarding our Social Security system could pit the young against the old and the middle class
6 against the poor. The system is scarcely social in such a setting; likewise, the financial unsoundness of the system
7 scarcely deserves the word Security. What we have is thus neither social nor security. Ahead of us are additional 8 days of reckoning besides the one noted many times in the Bible.

11 "Teach them the beauty of freedoms - the marvelous freedoms established by the Bill of Rights, the first ten
12 amendments to the Constitution of this nation.....In leadership, in standing for principle, there is loneliness. But 13 men and women of integrity must live with their convictions. Unless they do so, they are miserable.....Never in 14 the history of the world has there been a more profound need for leaders of principle to step forward. Never 15 before, at least not in our generation, have the forces of evil been so blatant, so brazen, so aggressive as they are 16 at the present time.....We are involved in an intense battle. It is a battle between right and wrong, between truth
17 and error, between the design of the Almighty on the one hand and that of Lucifer on the other. For that reason
18 we desperately need men and women who, in their individual spheres of influence, will stand for truth in a world
19 of sophistry. I have lived long enough to know that many political campaigns, for example, are the same. I have 20 heard again and again the sweet talk that leads to victory but never seems to be realized thereafter. We need
21 moral men and women, people who stand on principle, to be involved in the political process. Otherwise, we 22 abdicate power to those whose designs are almost entirely selfish.....We don't have the luxury of retreating to our 23 private cloisters and pursuing only our special private interests. Strong voices are needed. The weight of our 24 stance may be enough to tip the scales in the direction of truth and right."

25 President Gordon B. Hinckley from his book "Standing for Something" (In the year 2000 written and published and soared
26 to the top of the charts and even made it to the New York Times Bestseller list, it was titled, Standing for Something; 10
27 Neglected Virtues That Will Heal our Hearts and Homes. Gordon B. Hinckley, president of The Church of Jesus Christ of 28 Latter Day Saints)

30 One of the surest and most certain signs of the times is the near-omnipresence of false prophets. "There shall also 31 arise . . . false prophets," saith the holy word. (JS-M 1:22.) It is now almost as though every fool or near-fool,
32 and every person filled with self-conceit and a desire to be in the spotlight of adulation, fancies himself a prophet
33 of religion or politics, or what have you. On every hand there are those who suppose they know how to save
34 society, to save nations, to save souls. They preach all sorts of gospels—a social gospel; a racial gospel; a gospel
35 of freedom or communism, of socialism or free enterprise, of military preparedness or reliance upon the wispy
36 promises of foreign foes; a gospel of salvation by grace alone, or of this or that doctrine.

37 Apostle Bruce R. McConkie, A NEW WITNESS FOR THE ARTICLES OF FAITH, p. 626, 1985

39 However, above all else, strive to support good and conscientious candidates of either party who are aware of 40 the great dangers inherent in communism and who are truly dedicated to the Constitution in the tradition of our 41 founding fathers. They should also pledge their sincere fealty to our way of liberty--a liberty which aims at the 42 preservation of both personal and property rights. Study the issues, analyze the candidates on these grounds, and 43 then exercise your franchise as free men and women. Never be found guilty of exchanging your birthright for a 44 mess of pottage!

45 President David O. McKay, General Conference, October 1962

47 The position of this Church on the subject of Communism has never changed. We consider it the greatest satanical
48 threat to peace, prosperity, and the spread of God's work among men that exists on the face of the earth. . . .

49 The entire concept and philosophy of Communism is diametrically opposed to everything for which the Church
50 stands—belief in Deity, belief in the dignity and eternal nature of man, and the application of the gospel to efforts
51 for peace in the world. Communism is militantly atheistic and is committed to the destruction of faith wherever it 52 may be found.

1 The Russian Commissar of Education wrote: "We must hate Christians and Christianity. Even the best of them
2 must be considered our worst enemies. Christian love is an obstacle to the development of the revolution. Down
3 with love for one's neighbor. What we want is hate. Only then shall we conquer the universe."

4 On the other hand, the gospel teaches the existence of God as our Eternal and Heavenly Father and declares: "
5 . . . him only shalt thou serve." (Matt. 4:10.)

6 Communism debases the individual and makes him the enslaved tool of the state, to which he must look for 7 sustenance and religion. Communism destroys man's God-given free agency...

8 David O. McKay, Conference Report, April 9, 1966, pp. 109-10. Highlighted section in original.

10 May I assure you that communism is not merely an economic program. It is a total philosophy of life, atheistic
11 and utterly opposed to all we hold dear as a great Christian nation. While we might effectively bridle or destroy 12 every so-called communist within our own borders, we shall not vanquish this political virus, and its common
13 forerunner, state socialism, so long as people are determined to achieve security through state-imposed
14 materialistic schemes rather than through righteous living and wholesome activity as free men.

15 Elder Ezra Taft Benson, So Shall Ye Reap. 361 pages of selected addresses from 1960 AD.

17 Sad as it may be, almost the entire history of mankind is an account of false worship, false gods, and all the ills
18 that attend such a course. Communism is in reality a form of religion in which men deny the God of the Bible and 19 worship the gods of compulsion and power and war. Philosophy in all its forms and varieties is a way of worship.
20 It is an attempt by reason and without revelation to explain existence, ethical principles in general, and the 21 whence, why, and whither of life.

22 Elder Bruce R. McConkie 1985, A New Witness for the Articles of Faith, p. 54

24 Atheism, like theism, is divided into many sects: communism, agnosticism, skepticism, humanism, pragmatism, 25 and others.

26 The atheist proclaims his own dishonesty in accepting pay to teach psychology, sociology, history, or English, 27 while he is indeed preaching his atheistic religious philosophy to his students.

28 Elder Boyd K. Packer, 1975, Teach Ye Diligently, p. 225

30 Communist leaders have steadily insisted that communism cannot live in just one country. Just as we fought to 31 make 'the world safe for democracy,' so they are fighting to make the world safe for communism. They are fighting
32 this fight today. Every country must become communistic, according to their idea. So they have sent out 33 missionaries...

34 Do not let advocates of communism mislead you in their attempt to denounce capitalism. Fundamental in the 35 belief and promulgation of communism is the denial of the existence of God and the desire to substitute for the 36 belief confidence in the state. The state is not an organization to suppress people. The state should have no power
37 but that which the people give it; and when the state becomes a director, a controller of the individual, it becomes 38 despotism; and human nature has fought that since man was created; and man will continue to fight that false
39 ideal.

40 Individual freedom is innate in the human soul. God has given us our free agency, and next to life itself that is 41 our greatest gift from heaven, and you red-blooded men and women know that is true because of your own love
42 of liberty.

43 Apostle David O. McKay, Gospel Ideals, p. 304-305

1 There are some who may regard the acknowledgment of spiritual power as a stigma of weakness, that the humility
2 which is essential to the acceptance of divine power is incompatible with strength of manhood and self-
3 determination. That was in large measure the doctrine of Hitler and is today the philosophy of communism. I
4 hope there are not many who adopt such a philosophy of life.

5 Now I know that there are many in Christian nations and many in prominent places who accede to this taboo on 6 religion in the consideration of national and world affairs. They seem to think that they can fight aggressive,
7 atheistic communism without uttering a word in defense and exposition of divinely-given concepts, and without
8 even seeking divine aid in the preservation of divine principles for the race. I do not pretend to qualify or speak
9 as an expert on international affairs, but I am sure that I voice the sentiment and feeling of millions of God-loving
10 people over the world when I assert that the sooner the issues now confronting the nations are recognized as a
11 moral conflict between right and wrong, between truth and error, between Christ and anti-Christ, the sooner will 12 come the solution and peace. I know that this is and has always been the position of this Church. There are 13 prophecies, ancient and modern, statements and declarations, and experience to support this position.

18 This message defines religion. It interprets all phases of a man's existence in terms of religion. There is no part
19 of living not influenced by it. Our thoughts, our environment, our education, our companionships and 20 associations, our health, our concepts of wealth, government, and society in the scope of this message are all
21 religious considerations. Religion therefore becomes not a philosophy apart from life to be held up for scrutiny,
22 criticism, and debate. Rather, it is an integrated way of life, a system and program of individual and community
23 living under eternal law which man did not make and cannot change...

24 There are some who may regard the acknowledgment of spiritual power as a stigma of weakness, that the humility
25 which is essential to the acceptance of divine a power is incompatible with strength of manhood and self-
26 determination. That was in large measure the doctrine of Hitler and is today the philosophy of Communism. I
27 hope there are not many who adopt such a philosophy of life.

28 There are some who seem to feel that their liberties are circumscribed by the acceptance and acknowledgment of 29 spiritual forces and that they are much freer and better off to make no profession of faith whatever. Considered
30 in the light of a deterrent to wrongdoing, perhaps they are right, but such a concept is really an abandonment of 31 the underlying principles of righteousness and good character.

32 Then there are those, constituting perhaps the largest portion of that group within the Church who seem ashamed
33 of the gospel of Christ, who are just too weak to stand up under all circumstances and conditions for the right 34 and the truth as they know it to be.

39 But as those affluent years slipped by, voices were heard in the land, singing the siren songs of socialism. And 40 many Americans tapped their feet to the beat of the music. Politicians were already promising something for 41 nothing, that elusive free lunch. Thus, gradually the people let the government infringe upon their precious
42 freedoms, and the preliminary signs of decay began to appear in our young republic.

43 Ezra Taft Benson, This Nation Shall Endure, p. 93, published 1977 AD

45 As Americans, we have marched a long way down the soul-destroying road of socialism, atheism, and 46 totalitarianism. It is the price we pay when we turn away from God and turn to government to do everything for 47 us. It is the formula by which nations become enslaved by their own leaders.

1 As England's Lord Acton so succinctly put it, "Power tends to corrupt—and absolute power corrupts absolutely."
2 (Essays on Freedom and Power, p. 364.)

3 *Increasing numbers of Americans are subscribing to the myth that you can get something for nothing—as long
4 as the government is footing the bill. In fact, they believe it is the duty of government to take care of them, from 5 the womb to the tomb.*

6 *There is no such thing as a free lunch. Everything we get from the government, we pay for in debilitating taxes.
7 Everything the government gives to the people, it must first take from the people. This is something few Americans 8 appear to understand.*

9 Ezra Taft Benson, This Nation Shall Endure, p. 94, published 1977 AD

11 *Three of the major devices that have led men to reject the truth concerning God have been and still are 12 (1) apostate Christianity,
13 (2) the theory of biological evolution, and 14 (3) communism.*

15 Marion G. Romney, 1977, Learning For The Eternities, p. 2.

17 But whenever the God of heaven reveals His gospel to mankind, Satan, the archenemy to Christ, introduces a 18 counterfeit.

19 *Communism introduced into the world a substitute for true religion. It is a counterfeit of the gospel plan. The 20 false prophets of Communism predict a utopian society. This, they proclaim, will only be brought about as 21 capitalism and free enterprise are overthrown, private property abolished, the family as a social unit eliminated,
22 all classes abolished, all governments overthrown, and a communal ownership of property in a classless, stateless 23 society established.*

24 *President Marion G. Romney, in the First Presidency Message in the September 1979 Ensign, wrote:
25 "Communism is Satan's counterfeit for the gospel plan, and ... it is an avowed enemy of the God of the land.
26 Communism is the greatest anti-Christ power in the world today and therefore the greatest menace not only to 27 our peace but to our preservation as a free people. By the extent to which we tolerate it, accommodate ourselves 28 to it, permit ourselves to be encircled by its tentacles and drawn to it, to that extent we forfeit the protection of 29 the God of this land" (p. 5).*

30 President Ezra Taft Benson Of the Council of the Twelve, A Witness and a Warning

32 *In distinguishing communism from the United Order, President David O. McKay said that communism is Satan's
33 counterfeit for the gospel plan, and that it is an avowed enemy of the God of the land. Communism is the greatest 34 anti-Christ power in the world today and therefore the greatest menace not only to our peace but to our 35 preservation as a free people. By the extent to which we tolerate it, accommodate ourselves to it, permit ourselves
36 to be encircled by its tentacles and drawn to it, to that extent we forfeit the protection of the God of this land.*

37 *Relying on that part of the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States which reads, "Congress shall 38 make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof," the United States
39 Supreme Court has ruled against Bible reading and prayer in public schools. By so doing, said President David 40 O. McKay, "the Supreme Court of the United States severs the connecting cord between the public schools of 41 the United States and the source of divine intelligence, the Creator himself," who, of course, is the God of this 42 land (Relief Society Magazine, Dec. 1962, p. 878).*

43 Now, of course, we all believe and wholeheartedly support the separation of church and state; but we must not 44 let this wresting of the First Amendment, nor communism, nor atheism, nor any other anti-Christ influence, 45 weaken our conviction that Jesus Christ is the God of this land nor diminish our determination to obey his laws.

46 President Marion G. Romney Second Counselor in the First Presidency, The Message: America's Promise, New Era, Mar
47 1980, p.4.

2 "You were given a great message by Elder Marion G. Romney which was inspiring and profound. He compared socialism with the
3 United Order. I encourage you to study carefully that message. He gave much of the basic theory, the principles, the similarities and
4 the differences between these two basically conflicting systems. As I accept his premises, logic, and conclusions, with your permission,
5 at this time, I would like to use his message as a springboard for my own. The basic principle in his message is the same principle in 6 mine, as already discussed – the principle of the Law of the Harvest – As a Man Sows, So Shall He Reap.

7 "From my own experience in business and as a lawyer and church worker, and from my firsthand observations in this country and
8 other countries of the world, there appears to me to be a trend to shift responsibility for life and its processes from the individual to
9 the state. In this shift there is a basic violation of the law of the harvest, or the law of justice. The attitude of "something for nothing"
10 is encouraged. The government is often looked to as the source of wealth. There is a feeling that the government should step in and 11 take care of one's needs, one's emergencies, and one's future. Just as my friend actually became a slave to his own ignorance and 12 bad habits by refusing to accept the responsibility for his own education and moral growth, so, also, can an entire people be
13 imperceptibly transferred from individuals, families, and communities to the federal government...

14 Howard W. Hunter, Quorum of the Twelve Apostles, (Speeches of the Year 1965-1966, pp. 1-11, "The Law of the Harvest."
15 Devotional Address, Brigham Young University, 8 March 1966.)

17 "Wo unto you poor men, whose hearts are not broken, whose spirits are not contrite, and whose bellies are not 18 satisfied, and whose hands are not stayed from laying hold upon other men's goods, whose eyes are full of 19 greediness, and who will not labor with your own hands!"

20 Doctrine and Covenants 56:17.

22 False Political Isms

23 We again warn our people in America of the constantly increasing threat against our inspired Constitution and 24 our free institutions set up under it. The same political tenets and philosophies that have brought war and terror
25 in other parts of the world are at work amongst us in America. The proponents thereof are seeking to undermine 26 our own form of government and to set up instead one of the forms of dictatorships now flourishing in other lands.
27 These revolutionists are using a technique that is as old as the human race—a fervid but false solicitude for the 28 unfortunate over whom they thus gain mastery and then enslave them.

29 They suit their approaches to the particular group they seek to deceive. Among the Latter-day Saints they speak
30 of their philosophy and their plans under it as an ushering in of the United Order. Communism and all other
31 similar isms bear no relationship whatever to the United Order. They are merely the clumsy counterfeits which 32 Satan always devises of the gospel plan. Communism debases the individual and makes him the enslaved tool of 33 the state to whom he must look for sustenance and religion; the United Order exalts the individual, leaves him
34 his property, "according to his family, according to his circumstances and his wants and needs," (D&C 51:3)
35 and provides a system by which he helps care for his less fortunate brethren; the United Order leaves every man
36 free to choose his own religion as his conscience directs. Communism destroys man's God-given free agency; the 37 United Order glorifies it. Latter-day Saints can not be true to their faith and lend aid, encouragement, or sympathy
38 to any of these false philosophies. They will prove snares to their feet.

39 First Presidency Message, in Conference Report, Apr. 1942 as found on LDS.org in 2012 AD.

41 ...Assume that you become the world leader of Socialism and in it have marked success, but through your devotion
42 to it you fail to live the gospel. Where are you then? Is anything worthwhile which will estrange you from your 43 friends, your Church membership, your family, your eternal promises, your faith? You might say that such 44 estrangement is not necessarily a result of your political views, but truthfully hasn't your overpowering interest
45 in your present views already started driving a wedge?

46 President Spencer W. Kimball, Teachings, pp. 408-409

1 No true Latter-day Saint and no true American can be a socialist or a communist or support programs leading 2 in that direction.

3 President Ezra Taft Benson, Title of Liberty, p. 190

5 The gift of the Atonement of Jesus Christ provides us at all times and at all places with the blessings of repentance 6 and forgiveness.

7 Satan tries to counterfeit the work of God, and by doing this he may deceive many. To make us lose hope, feel 8 miserable like himself, and believe that we are beyond forgiveness, Satan might even misuse words from the 9 scriptures that emphasize the justice of God, in order to imply that there is no mercy.

10 Apostle Dieter F. Uchtdorf, "Point of Safe Return," Ensign, May 2007, 99–101

12 Some of Satan's most appealing lines are "Everyone does it"; "If it doesn't hurt anybody else, it's all right"; "If 13 you feel all right about it, it's OK"; or "It's the 'in' thing to do." These subtle entreaties make Satan the great 14 imitator, the master deceiver, the arch counterfeiter, and the great forger.

15 *Agency—Our Alternative: Our agency, given us through the plan of our Father, is the great alternative to Satan's
16 plan of force. With this sublime gift, we can grow, improve, progress, and seek perfection. Without agency, none 17 of us could grow and develop by learning from our mistakes and errors and those of others.*

18 James E. Faust, Second Counselor in the First Presidency, "The Forces That Will Save Us," Liahona, Jan 2007, 2–7

20 There seems to be developing a new civil religion. The civil religion I refer to is a secular religion. It has no
21 moral absolutes. It is nondenominational. It is nontheistic. It is politically focused. It is antagonistic to religion.
22 *It rejects the historic religious traditions of America. It feels strange. If this trend continues, nonbelief will be 23 more honored than belief. While all beliefs must be protected, are atheism, agnosticism, cynicism, and moral 24 relativism to be more safeguarded and valued than Christianity, Judaism, and the tenets of Islam, which hold that 25 there is a Supreme Being and that mortals are accountable to him? If so, this would, in my opinion, place America 26 in great moral jeopardy.

27 For those who believe in God, this new civil religion fosters some of the same concerns as the state religions
28 that prompted our forefathers to escape to the New World. Nonbelief is becoming more sponsored in the body 29 politic than belief.

33 *Elder Marion G. Romney of the Quorum of the Twelve taught: "Latter-day Saints know that there is a God. With 34 like certainty, they know that Satan lives, that he is a powerful personage of spirit, the archenemy of God, of man,
35 and of righteousness" (Ensign, June 1971, page 35). President Joseph F. Smith described one of Satan's methods:
36 "Satan is a skillful imitator, and as genuine gospel truth is given the world in ever-increasing abundance, so he 37 spreads the counterfeit coin of false doctrine" (ibid., page 36).*

38 Apostle Dallin H. Oaks, "Our Strengths Can Become Our Downfall," Liahona, May 1995, 10

40 "President Harold B. Lee said, 'Today you are witnessing the fulfillment [of a prophecy concerning Satan's 41 dominion. Today is the day when the devil has power over his own dominion.]; (Harold B. Lee, Decisions for 42 Successful Living, Deseret Book Co., 1973, p. 221.) That is a prophetic statement from a prophet of God. He also 43 said, "[Satan] is the master of deceit, adulteration and counterfeit."

2 We know that there is available to each of us the gift of the Holy Ghost—the power of revelation which embraces
3 the gift of discernment by which we may unerringly detect the devil and the counterfeits he is so successfully
4 foisting upon this gullible generation. Our course is clear and certain. It is to strictly obey the commandments of 5 the Lord, as they are recorded in the scriptures and as they are being given by the living prophets.

8 If we really did our homework and approached the Book of Mormon doctrinally, we could expose the errors and 9 find the truths to combat many of the current false theories and philosophies of men, including socialism,
10 humanism, organic evolution, and others.

11 President Ezra Taft Benson, President of the Council of the Twelve “Jesus Christ—Gifts and Expectations,” New Era, May 13

14 We have accepted a frightening degree of socialism in our country. The question is, how much? The amount of 15 freedom depends upon the amount of federal control and spending. A good measurement is to determine the 16 amount, or percentage, of income of the people that is taken over and spent by the state.

17 Ezra Taft Benson, This Nation Shall Endure

18
19 The "communist manifesto" drafted by Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels, for the Communist League . . . in . . .
20 1848 is generally regarded as the starting point of modern socialism.

21 No, socialism is not the United Order. Distinguishing between these two systems need be no more difficult than 22 solving the problem of the farmer who could not tell one of his horses from the other. They weighed the same,
23 pulled the same load, ran at the same speed; from the looks of their teeth they were the same age. Finally, as a 24 last resort, he measured them, and, sure enough, the white horse was six hands higher than the black one.

25 Now, not forgetting our duty to eschew socialism and support the just and holy principles of the Constitution, as 26 directed by the Lord, I shall conclude these remarks with a few comments concerning what we should do about 27 the United Order.

28 President Marion G. Romney, Socialism and the United Order Compared

33
34 "I attended a second lecture on Socialism, by Mr. Finch; and after he got through, I made a few remarks... I said 35 I did not believe the doctrine."

36 The Prophet Joseph Smith (History of the Church 6:33)

37
38 "We believe that our real threat comes from within and not from without, and it comes from that underlying spirit
39 common to Nazism, Fascism, and Communism, namely, the spirit which would array class against class, which 40 would set up a socialistic state of some sort, which would rob the people of the liberties which we possess under
41 the Constitution...

1 First Presidency 1941 (Heber J. Grant, J. Reuben Clark, Jr., David O. McKay in a Letter to the Treasury from the LDS First
2 Presidency in 1941 AD)

4 Concerning the United States, the Lord revealed to his prophets that its greatest threat would be a vast, worldwide
5 “secret combination” which would not only threaten the United States but also seek to “overthrow the freedom
6 of all lands, nations, and countries.” (Ether 8:25.) . . .

7 In connection with attack on the United States, the Lord told the Prophet Joseph Smith there would be an attempt
8 to overthrow the country by destroying the Constitution. Joseph Smith predicted that the time would come when 9 the Constitution would hang, as it were, by a thread, and at that time “this people will step forth and save it from 10 the threatened destruction.” . . .

11 One of the most urgent, heart-stirring appeals made by Moroni as he closed the Book of Mormon was addressed
12 to the gentile nations of the last days. He foresaw the rise of a great world-wide secret combination among the 13 gentiles which “. . . seeketh to overthrow the freedom of all lands, nations, and countries; . . .” (Ether 8:25. Italics 14 added.) He warned each gentile nation of the last days to purge itself of this gigantic criminal conspiracy which 15 would seek to rule the world.

16 The prophets, in our day, have continually warned us of these internal threats in our midst—that our greatest 17 threat from socialistic-communism lies within our country. Brethren and sisters, we don’t need a prophet—we 18 have one—we need a listening ear. And if we do not listen and heed, then, as the Doctrine and Covenants states,
19 “. . . the day cometh that they who will not hear the voice of the Lord, neither the voice of his servants, neither 20 give heed to the words of the prophets and apostles, shall be cut off from among the people.” (D&C 1:14.)

21 The prophets have said that these threats are among us. The Prophet Moroni, viewing our day, said,

22 “Wherefore the Lord commandeth you, when ye shall see these things come among you that ye shall awake to a 23 sense of your awful situation.”
24 (Ether 8:24)

25 Unfortunately our nation has not treated the socialistic-communist conspiracy as “treasonable to our free
26 institutions,” as the First Presidency pointed out in a signed 1936 statement. If we continue to uphold communism
27 by not making it treasonable, our land shall be destroyed, for the Lord has said that “. . . whatsoever nation shall 28 uphold such secret combinations, to get power and gain, until they shall spread over the nation, behold they shall 29 be destroyed; . . .” (D&C 8:22.)...

30 The world-wide secret conspiracy which has risen up in our day to fulfill these prophecies is easily identified.
31 President McKay has left no room for doubt as to what attitude Latter-day Saints should take toward the modern 32 “secret combinations” of conspiratorial communism. In a lengthy statement on communism, he said:

33 “. . . Latter-day Saints should have nothing to do with the secret combinations and groups antagonistic to the 34 constitutional law of the land, which the Lord ‘suffered to be established,’ and which ‘should be maintained for 35 the rights and protection of all flesh according to just and holy principles.’” (Gospel Ideals, by David O. McKay, 36 p. 306. Italics added.) . . .

37 Ezra Taft Benson of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles, in Conference Report, October 1961, p. 69–72

39 This feeling of communism and nihilism, aimed at the overthrow of rulers and men in position and authority,
40 arises from a spirit of diabolism, which is contrary to every principle of the Gospel of the Son of God. But then 41 do not the Scriptures say that these things shall occur? Yes. Do not the scriptures say that men shall grow worse
42 and worse, deceiving and being deceived? Yes. Do not the scriptures tell us that thrones shall be cast down and 43 empires destroyed and the rule and government of the earth be trodden under foot? Yes. But I cannot help but 44 sympathize with those who suffer from their influences; while these afflictions are the result of wickedness and 45 corruption, yet we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that those who engage in these pernicious practices are 46 exceedingly low, brutal, wicked and degraded. I would say “my soul come not thou into their secret; unto their 47 assembly, mine honor, be not thou united.” . . .

48 I feel more profoundly moved that deeds of this description can occur in a free, liberal and enlightened
49 government like this. We might expect such things in some of the European nations where the principles of
50 nihilism exist to so great an extent, and where there seems a disposition to subvert all rule and government and
51 place the people and nations in the hands of irresponsible mobs, and of low, brutal, murderous men, without any 52 regard to the principles of law, order, justice, equity and righteousness. I could account for some of these things

1 taking place there. It is really astonishing to see what efforts are being made to accomplish the overthrow of rule
2 and government in Russia, Austria, Germany, Spain, England, Italy, France, Turkey, etc. These things are 3 beginning to spread among and permeate the nations of the earth. Do we expect them? Yes. These secret
4 combinations were spoken of by Joseph Smith, years and years ago. I have heard him time and time again tell
5 about them, and he stated that when these things began to take place the liberties of this nation would begin to 6 be bartered away. We see many signs of weakness which we lament, and we would to God that our rulers would 7 be men of righteousness, and that those who aspire to position would be guided by honorable feelings—to 8 maintain inviolate the Constitution and operate in the interest, happiness, well-being, and protection of the whole
9 community. But we see signs of weakness and vacillation. We see a policy being introduced to listen to the clamor
10 of mobs and of unprincipled men who know not of what they speak, nor whereof they affirm, and when men begin
11 to tear away with impunity one plank after another from our Constitution, by and by we shall find that we are 12 struggling with the wreck and ruin of the system which the forefathers of this nation sought to establish in the 13 interests of humanity.

23 We condemn the outcome which wicked and designing men are now planning, namely: the worldwide
24 establishment and perpetuation of some form of Communism on the one side, or of some form of Nazism or 25 Fascism on the other. Each of these systems destroys liberty, wipes out free institutions, blots out free agency,
26 stifles free press and free speech, crushes out freedom of religion and conscience. Free peoples cannot and do
27 not survive under these systems. Free peoples the world over will view with horror the establishment of either

31 "Now we should all be opposed to Socialistic-Communism, for it is our mortal and spiritual enemy – the greatest

2 [A]s a nation we ignored the warning signals which preceded the great depression; we were also unready to 3 face the onrushing realities of Fascism and Communism—whereas today many are blind to the dangers of self-
4 oppression, the chains we put on ourselves, which is the real tyranny of our time.

5 Elder Neal A. Maxwell, 1972

7 We hear the voice of one false Christ, echoing from the camps of communism, expounding the devil-devised
8 declaration that religion is the opiate of the people. We hear another such voice when races alien to Israel
9 acclaim that the one God has no need for a Son to mediate between himself and fallen man.

10 Next Moroni turns the key so that all who have ears to hear can understand what the secret combination is and 11 can identify those who build it up. "For it cometh to pass," he says, "that whoso buildeth it up seeketh to overthrow 12 the freedom of all lands, nations, and countries." This is a worldwide conspiracy. It is now entrenched in many 13 nations, and it seeks dominion over all nations. It is Godless, atheistic, and operates by compulsion. It is 14 communism. "And it bringeth to pass the destruction of all people, for it is built up by the devil, who is the father
15 of all lies; even that same liar who beguiled our first parents, yea, even that same liar who hath caused man to 16 commit murder from the beginning; who hath hardened the hearts of men that they have murdered the prophets, 17 and stoned them, and cast them out from the beginning.

24 Latter-day Saints should have nothing to do with secret combinations and groups antagonistic to the 25 constitutional law of the land, which the Lord "suffered to be established," and which "should be maintained for 26 the rights and protection of all flesh according to just and holy principles."

27 Fundamental in the belief and promulgation of communism is the denial of the existence of God and the desire
28 to substitute for the belief confidence in the state. The state is not an organization to suppress people. The state 29 should have no power but that which the people give it; and when the state becomes a director, a controller of 30 the individual, it becomes despotism; and human nature has fought that since man was created; and man will 31 continue to fight that false ideal.

32 Individual freedom is innate in the human soul. God has given us our free agency, and next to life itself that is 33 our greatest gift from heaven, and you red-blooded men and women know that is true because of your own love
34 of liberty.

35 David O. McKay, Selections from the Discourses of David O. McKay, 1952

36
37 On the one side the direction which is to make an end of all nations, is through communism; on the other side it
38 is being reached through Fascism and Nazism. While these two forces are apparently arrayed against each other,

3 21.4.1 Quotes on Social Security

4 We have accepted a frightening degree of socialism in our country. The question is, how much? The amount of
5 freedom depends upon the amount of federal control and spending. A good measurement is to determine the
6 amount, or percentage, of income of the people that is taken over and spent by the state. In Russia, the individual
7 works almost wholly for the state, leaving little for his own welfare. Scandinavia takes about 65 to 70 percent of 8 the income of the people, England some 60 percent. The United States is now approximately 44 percent.

9 The chief weapon used by the federal government to achieve this equality is through so-called transfer payments.
10 This is a term that simply means that the federal government collects from one income group and transfers
11 payments to another by the tax system. These payments are made in the form of Social Security benefits, housing
12 subsidies, Medicaid, food stamps, to name a few.

13 Today, total cost of such programs exceeds $150 billion dollars. That represents about 42 percent of the total of 14 all government federal spending, or about one dollar out of every seven dollars of personal income. (See U.S.
15 News and World Report, August 4, 1975, pp. 32-33.)

16 Our present Social Security program has been going in the hole at the rate of $12 billion a year. Recognizing 17 that the present program will be insolvent by 1985, President Carter has now recommended that Social Security
18 be funded out of the general tax funds. Charges were made in the last election campaign that the Social Security
19 program was going bankrupt. These charges were denied. Now the truth is out. The President's recommendation
20 must be regarded as an admission of the failure of the present system and as a calculated policy to take this 21 country into full-scale socialism.

22 Our major danger is that we are currently—and have been for forty years—transferring responsibility from the 23 individual, local, and state governments to the federal government.

24 President Ezra Taft Benson, This Nation Shall Endure, 1977, Deseret Book Company.

26 "We have on, at the present time, a great political campaign (1936), and I want to say to the Saints that I hope
27 they will not allow their political affiliations, their regard for political affairs, to cause feelings of ill-will towards 28 one another. I have had some of the most insulting letters that ever came to me, condemning me for not being in 29 favor of the Townsend Plan (Social Security), and that I must be ignorant of the plan. I am not ignorant of the 30 plan. I have not read every word of it, but I have asked one of my secretaries to read every word of the plan and 31 to give me the important points, and to my mind it is in direct opposition to everything I have quoted from Brigham
32 Young and from the revelations of the Lord. The idea of allowing every man and woman who has reached the age
33 of sixty years and wishes to retire from working to get two hundred dollars a month from the government! There
34 is nothing truer than Brigham Young's statement, that we should give nothing to people, unless they are not able 35 to work, without requiring them to do something for it.

36 President Heber J. Grant, General Conference October, 1936: 13.

38 To protect this base we must protect the soul of America -- we must return to a love and respect for the basic 39 spiritual concepts upon which this nation has been established. We must study the Constitution and the writings
40 of the founding fathers.

41 Yes, we must protect the Lord's base of operations by moving away from unsound economic policies which 42 encourage creeping socialism and its companion, insidious, atheistic communism. If we are to protect this 43 important base we must as a nation live within our means, balance our budgets, and pay our debts. We must 44 establish sound monetary policies and take needed steps to compete in world markets.

1 Satan's attacks on the family: The ultimate purpose of the adversary, who has "great wrath, because he knoweth
2 that he hath but a short time," (1) is to disrupt, disturb, and destroy the home and the family. Like a ship without
3 a rudder, without a compass, we drift from the family values which have anchored us in the past. Now we are 4 caught in a current so strong that unless we correct our course, civilization as we know it will surely be wrecked
5 to pieces. Moral values are being neglected and prayer expelled from public schools on the pretext that moral 6 teaching belongs to religion. At the same time, atheism, the secular religion, is admitted to class, and our 7 youngsters are proselyted to a conduct without morality.

8 Elder Boyd K. Packer, Official Report of the 164th Annual General Conference April, 1994.

10 Thus, as we have seen, civil control of religion is Lucifer's way of enforcing an enduring state of apostasy and 11 of darkness upon all who are subject to such control. Thus also, as long as government controls our way of 12 worship, Lucifer is in control, and we have no hope except to await the day when the chains will be broken and 13 the bondage will cease.

14 *10. Atheism, a Fatal Belief—"During the Reign of Terror, the French were declared by the National Assembly to 15 be a nation of atheists; but a brief experience convinced them that a nation of atheists could not long exist.
16 Robespierre then 'proclaimed in the convention, that belief in the existence of God was necessary to those 17 principles of virtue and morality upon which the republic was founded; and on the 7th of May [1794], the national 18 representatives, who had so lately prostrated themselves before the Goddess of Reason, voted by acclamation
19 that the French people acknowledged the existence of the Supreme Being, and the immortality of the soul."
20 Students' France, 27, 6.*

23 The Religion of Atheism

24 *Some years ago in the United States a plaintiff prospered in her grievance concerning the saying of prayers in 25 public schools. The practice was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. That decision was partial to 26 one ideology, for the effect, regardless of the intent, was to offer great encouragement to those who would erase
27 from our society every trace of reference to the Almighty.*

28 There is a crying need for the identification of atheism for what it is, and that is, a religion albeit a negative
29 one. Atheism is a religious expression; it is one extreme end of religious philosophy.

30 *One group of so-called believers in God teach in substance that He is man-made. That is, they admit, with tongues
31 in cheeks, that there is a God. But, in the same breath, they explain that God is always a product of the human 32 mind. Early peoples, they say, worshipped tribal Gods, of stock and stone. As the people developed, their 33 conceptions changed, until, in time, God became a Being of spirit. This simply means that God is made by man, 34 and in the image of man; instead of man being made in the image of God. Such colossal self-sufficiency is of the 35 impudent order of King Canute defying the tides of the ocean. The notion of a man-made God is a variation of 36 atheism.

37 Elder Boyd K Packer, TEACH YE DILIGENTLY, 1975.

39 A Government Designed For All Mankind

40 *The coming of Columbus to this continent was not a thing of chance. It had been foreseen and foretold by the 41 prophets of God. The coming of the Pilgrim fathers to New England, of the Dutch to New York, and the cavaliers
42 of the Old World to Virginia, was not a thing of chance, it was just the chosen combination of men and women
43 who were calculated to make up the composite government which was established at the time of the adoption of 44 the Constitution of the United States. They were prayerful people, they were people who had faith in God, they 45 prayed to him and their prayers were answered; and, as stated in the scripture which the President has read, it
46 was under the Lord's inspiration that these men were moved upon to give us this government under which we 47 have so rapidly and wonderfully developed. It was not to be a government of Englishmen, nor of Dutchmen, nor 48 of royalty represented in the cavaliers, nor of French people who were in Louisiana, and to the north of us, in 49 Canada, but a government designed for the benefit of all mankind, a government which was to make all people 50 equal under the law.*

1 President Anthony W. Ivins, General Conference, October 1927.

3 Priesthood of this Church the responsibility

4 We should at all times be willing to sustain the great Bill of Rights in our own country, to sustain and uphold the
5 laws here. I firmly believe that Brigham Young was a prophet of Almighty God. I think that he spoke under the 6 inspiration of the Lord's Spirit. I want to read to you an excerpt from one of his sermons, wherein he laid upon
7 the shoulders of the Priesthood of this Church some very definite responsibilities relative to the fundamental law
8 of our country. He said:

9 I expect to see the day when the Elders of Israel will protect and sustain civil and religious liberty, and every 10 constitutional right bequeathed to us by our fathers.

11 He said these rights would go out in connection with the Gospel for the salvation of all nations, and added:

12 "I shall see this whether I live or whether I die. I do not lift up my voice against the great and glorious government
13 guaranteed to every citizen by our Constitution, but against those administrators who trample the Constitution 14 and just laws under their feet."

15 We see from this prophecy, uttered by a prophet of God that there will yet devolve upon the Priesthood of this 16 Church the responsibility of protecting the rights and the Constitution of our great country.

17 Elder Joseph L. Wirthlin , General Conference, October 1938.

19 Warning Against False Impressions

20 War has now broken out. Most of the sanctities that were used by the one side or the other to hallow the World
21 War are again coming forth to hallow this one. Many were false then; they are false now. We should not be 22 disturbed, misled, or blinded by any of them. Look at each of them squarely; most of them will wilt under your 23 gaze. There are always deceit, lying, subterfuge, treachery, and savagery, in war, on both sides. There was in the 24 World War. It is not always the other power that commits atrocities.

25 President J. Reuben Clark, Jr, General Conference, October 1939.

26

27 Compelling Concepts

28 Among these elemental concepts is the love of freedom; it is found in man not only, but even in the brutes. Man
29 and beast rebel against slavery. They yield to it only under compelling force.

30 Another elemental eternal concept is belief in God, which may ripen into a knowledge of God. Normal man 31 ultimately demands this belief to make mortality tolerable.

32 Modern communism as explained by communists who are in places where they speak their real minds, deny God,
33 declare that other men are beasts that must be tamed and worked as beasts. This is an enemy that threatens us
34 within and without. This is not a Godless world.

35 But men cannot be led indefinitely, nor driven by a savage despotism, down this road to an intellectual and moral 36 abyss. They may follow along for a generation or two. But they will one day rebel against the rule of liquidation.
37 No group can permanently maintain itself by murder, as history proves from the days of the hideous proscription
38 lists of Sulla till now. Fear and ruthless cruelty can rule for a time, but the spirit of liberty ultimately breaks forth 39 and sweeps away everything that lies in its path.

40 So it will be with communism, which now on a world scale may well be only doing the work of the Paris mobs in 41 the French Revolution, for there are fields of human endeavor where the power of birth and station still afflict
42 man's growth and development.

43 President J. Reuben Clark Jr., Stand Fast by Our Constitution.

2 May I add again an admonition: Live within your means. Get out of debt. Keep out of debt. Lay by for a rainy
3 day which has always come and will come again. Practice and increase your habits of thrift, industry, economy,
4 frugality. Remember that the parable of the ten virgins, the five that were wise and the five that were foolish, can 5 be just as applicable to matters of the temporal world as those of the spiritual.

6 President J. Reuben Clark, Jr.

7
8 God Have Mercy On Us

9 What strength, what value will there be in any law, even in that law which protects us in our property rights, if
10 we degenerate to such a degree that the law breaker has to be arrested by a man who is equally guilty of breaking
11 the law; that when he who is guilty is brought before the bar, that bar which is supposed to be a bar of justice, he 12 has as his prosecutor a district, a city or a county attorney who is himself as guilty as the one he is to prosecute?
13 What an unfortunate condition will prevail if we reach such a situation that the individuals who constitute the 14 jury are as guilty of law breaking as is the man whose guilt they are expected to discover. And then finally, if in 15 addition to all of this, the judge or the justice who occupies the exalted place upon the bench does not himself
16 have respect enough for the law to live in accordance with its provisions, God have mercy on us, for when this 17 condition prevails government of the people, referred to by Abraham Lincoln, will surely be perishing from the 18 earth.

19 Elder Richard R. Lyman, General Conference, October 1932.

20
21 Man: His Origin and Destiny

22 Parents are commanded by revelation to teach their children these principles of the gospel... Then they go to
23 school and find these glorious principles ridiculed and denied by the doctrines of men founded on foolish theories
24 which deny that man is the offspring of God... These theories so dominate the secular education of our youth.
25 They are constantly published in our newspapers, in magazines and other periodicals, and those who believe in 26 God and his divine revelations frequently sit supinely by without raising a voice of protest. Under these 27 conditions, is it any wonder the student is confused? He does not know whether to believe what his parents and 28 the Church have taught him, or to believe what the teacher says and is written in the textbook. Naturally, students
29 have confidence in their teachers and as confidence increases, there comes a lack of confidence in the doctrines
30 of the Church and the parental instruction.

31 President Joseph Fielding Smith, Man: His Origin and Destiny, pp. 2-3.

32
33 Fundamentals Of Constitution God-given

34 One of the most important things that we can do for the Church is to stand behind the Constitution of the United
35 States. That does not mean, and no reasoning person would suppose that it meant, that that Constitution may not 36 from time to time be changed as the needs of the people would seem to require. But it does mean that that 37 Constitution should be changed only under the urge of great necessity, and then only in accordance with its great
38 underlying concepts. It does mean that the great fundamental elements of the Constitution are God-given, for he 39 said so. It does mean to me as an individual that the Constitution of the United States and my adherence to it and 40 support of it is a part of my religion.

41 I have about the Constitution that same sort of conviction that I have about the other doctrines that we are taught,
42 for I believe its precepts are among the doctrines of the Church, and I believe that the Lord will change and 43 modify from time to time those details of its provisions which are ancillary to its great principles; he will cause
44 us--those who live under it--to modify it in accordance with our needs; but the fundamental principles of it we 45 may not sacrifice.

46 President J. Reuben Clark, Jr, General Conference, April 1935.

1 [We] shall see in our time a maximum if indirect effort made to establish irreligion as the state religion. It is
2 actually a new form of paganism.... Brothers and sisters, irreligion as the state religion would be the worst of all
3 combinations. Its orthodoxy would be insistent and its inquisitors inevitable. Its paid ministry would be numerous
4 beyond belief. Its Caesars would be insufferably condescending. ... Your discipleship may see the time come when 5 religious convictions are heavily discounted. M.J. Sobran also observed, "A religious conviction is now a second-
6 class conviction, expected to step deferentially to the back of the secular bus, and not to get uppity about it." This 7 new irreligious imperialism seeks to disallow certain of people's opinions simply because those opinions grow
8 out of religious convictions.

23 PRIVACY AND GOVERNMENT INTRUSION ...

"The right to be let alone is indeed the beginning of all freedom."
[Justice William O. Douglas]

"As every man goes through life, he fills in a number of forms for the record, each containing a number of questions. There are thus hundreds of little threads radiating from every man, millions of threads in all, and if these threads were to suddenly become visible, the whole sky would look like a spider's web. They are not visible, they are not material, but every man is constantly aware of their existence."

[Alexander Solzhenitsyn in "Cancer Ward".]

"The American people must be willing to give up a degree of personal privacy in exchange for safety and security."
[FBI Director Louis Freeh (1993) -- from the National Review, October 24, 1994]

"We can't be so fixated on our desire to preserve the rights of ordinary Americans ...".
[William Jefferson Clinton, March 11, 1993 in USA Today]

"When we got organized as a country ... we wrote a fairly radical Constitution with a radical Bill of Rights, giving a radical amount of individual freedom to Americans ... A lot of people say there's too much personal freedom. When personal freedom's being abused, you have to move to limit it."

[William Jefferson Clinton, March 22, 1994 on MTV (Music Television)]

"The makers of our Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They recognized the significance of man's spiritual nature, of his feelings and of his intellect. They knew that only a part of the pain, pleasure and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred, as against the Government, the right to be let alone - the most comprehensive of rights and the right most valued by civilized men."

24 THE NEW WORLD ORDER CONSPIRACY: THE COUNCIL ON FOREIGN RELATIONS, SECRET SOCIETIES AND EMERGING WORLD GOVERNMENT ...

"To achieve world government, it is necessary to remove from the minds of men, their individualism, loyalty to family traditions, national patriotism and religious dogmas."

[Brock Chisholm, former Director of the U.N. World Health Organization]

"The world is governed by very different personages from what is imagined by those who are not behind the scenes."

[Benjamin Disraeli, first Prime Minister of England, in a novel he published in 1844 called Coningsby, the New Generation]

"It is our true policy to steer clear of entangling alliances with any portion of the foreign world. The great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is, in extending our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible."

[George Washington]

"... Within the next hundred years ... nationhood as we know it will be obsolete; all states will recognize a single, global authority. A phrase briefly fashionable in the mid-20th century -- 'citizen of the world' -- will have assumed real meaning by the end of the 21st."

[Deputy Secretary of State Strobe Talbott in the July 20, 1992 issue of TIME magazine]

"The CFR [Council On Foreign Relations, New York City] is the American Branch of a society which originated in England and believes national directives should be obliterated and one-world rule established. I know of the operations of this network because I have studied it for twenty years, and was permitted in the early 1960's to examine its papers and secret records ... I believe its role in history is significant enough to be known."

[Dr. Carroll Quigley, Professor of International Relations, Georgetown University Foreign Service School, Washington, D.C., author of the epic "Tragedy & Hope", advocate of one-world government and personal mentor of President William Clinton (who acknowledged Professor Quigley during his 1992 presidential inauguration speech)]

1
2 "We shall have world government whether or not we like it. The only question is whether World government will be achieved
3 by conquest or consent."

4 [Statement by Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) member James Warburg to The Senate Foreign Relations Committee on 5 February 17th, 1950]

7 "Even the most Bush-happy, flag suckling jack-arse knows deep-down inside that something is wrong. America is over and 8 everyone knows it. The New World Order has a dying empire odor and changing the channel ain't going to make this go 9 away."

10 [Jello Biafra]

11
12 "Who controls the present controls the future; who controls the present controls the past".

13 [George Orwell in "1984"]

14
15 "We are not going to achieve a new world order without paying for it in blood as well as in words and money."

16 [Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., in Foreign Affairs (July/August 1995)]

18 "Today, America would be outraged if U.N. troops entered Los Angeles to restore order [referring to the 1991 LA Riot].
19 Tomorrow they will be grateful! This is especially true if they were told that there were an outside threat from beyond [i.e., 20 an "extraterrestrial" invasion], whether real or promulgated [emphasis mine], that threatened our very existence. It is then 21 that all peoples of the world will plead to deliver them from this evil. The one thing every man fears is the unknown. When 22 presented with this scenario, individual rights will be willingly relinquished for the guarantee of their well-being granted
23 to them by the World Government."

24 [Dr. Henry Kissinger, Bilderberger Conference, Evians, France, 1991]

25
26 "The drive of the Rockefellers and their allies is to create a one-world government combining supercapitalism and 27 Communism under the same tent, all under their control.... Do I mean conspiracy? Yes I do. I am convinced there is such a 28 plot, international in scope, generations old in planning, and incredibly evil in intent."

29 [Congressman Larry P. McDonald, 1976, killed in the Korean Airlines 747 that was shot down by the Soviets]

30
31 "The idea was that those who direct the overall conspiracy could use the differences in those two so-called ideologies
32 [marxism/fascism/socialism v. democracy/capitalism] to enable them [the Illuminati] to divide larger and larger portions of 33 the human race into opposing camps so that they could be armed and then brainwashed into fighting and destroying each 34 other."

35 [Myron Fagan]

36
37 "No one will enter the New World Order unless he or she will make a pledge to worship Lucifer. No one will enter the New 38 Age unless he will take a Luciferian Initiation."

39 [David Spangler, Director of Planetary Initiative, United Nations]

40
41 "The world can therefore seize the opportunity [Persian Gulf crisis] to fulfill the long-held promise of a New World Order 42 where diverse nations are drawn together in common cause to achieve the universal aspirations of mankind."

43 [President George Herbert Walker Bush]

44
45 "In the next century, nations as we know it will be obsolete; all states will recognize a single, global authority. National 46 sovereignty wasn't such a great idea after all."

47 [Strobe Talbot, President Clinton's Deputy Secretary of State, as quoted in Time, July 20th, 1992]

48
49 [The United Nations not only failed to give] "even a remote hope for lasting peace, it adds to the dangers of wars which now
50 surround us. The disintegrating forces in the United Nations are the Communist Nations in its membership."

51 [Former President Herbert Hoover as quoted in the Houston Press on August 10, 1962]

52
53 "Since I entered politics, I have chiefly had men's views confided to me privately. Some of the biggest men in the United 54 States, in the Field of commerce and manufacture, are afraid of something. "... our system of credit is concentrated ... in the 55 hands of a few men ... they know that there is a power somewhere so organized, so subtle, so watchful, so interlocked, so
56 complete, so pervasive, that they better not speak above their breath when they speak in condemnation of it. We have come 57 to be ... completely controlled ... by ... small groups of dominant men."

1 [President Woodrow Wilson, The New Freedom (1913)]

2
3 "Every child in American who enters school with an allegiance toward our elected officials, toward our founding fathers,
4 toward our institutions, toward the preservation of this form of government ... all of this proves the children are sick, because 5 the truly well individual is one who has rejected all of those things and is what I would call the true international child of the 6 future."

7 [Chester M. Pierce, Harvard University psychiatrist, at a 1973 International Education Seminar, as quoted in "Educating For 8 The New World Order" by B.K. Eakman]

9
10 "The individual is handicapped by coming face to face with a conspiracy so monstrous he cannot believe it exists."
11 [J. Edgar Hoover, former head of the FBI]

12
13 "From the days of Sparticus, Wieskhopf, Karl Marx, Trotsky, Rosa Luxemburg, and Emma Goldman, this world conspiracy
14 has been steadily growing. This conspiracy played a definite recognizable role in the tragedy of the French revolution. It has 15 been the mainspring of every subversive movement during the 19th century. And now at last this band of extraordinary
17 their head and have become the undisputed masters of that enormous empire."

18 [Winston Churchill, stated to the London Press, in 1922]

19
20 "We are at present working discreetly with all our might to wrest this mysterious force called sovereignty out of the clutches 21 of the local nation states of the world."

22 [Professor Arnold Toynbee, in a June 1931 speech before the Institute for the Study of International Affairs in Copenhagen]

23
24 "The government of the Western nations, whether monarchical or republican, had passed into the invisible hands of a
25 plutocracy, international in power and grasp. It was, I venture to suggest, this semioccult power which....pushed the mass of 26 the American people into the cauldron of World War I."

27 [British military historian Major General J.F.C. Fuller, 1941]

28
29 "Fifty men have run America, and that's a high figure."

30 [Joseph Kennedy, father of JFK, in the July 26th, 1936 issue of The New York Times]

31
32 "Today the path of total dictatorship in the United States can be laid by strictly legal means, unseen and unheard by the 33 Congress, the President, or the people. Outwardly we have a Constitutional government. We have operating within our 34 government and political system, another body representing another form of government - a bureaucratic elite."

35 [Senator William Jenner, 1954]

36
37 "The case for government by elites is irrefutable"

38 [Senator William Fulbright, Former chairman of the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee, stated at a 1963 symposium
39 entitled: The Elite and the Electorate - Is Government by the People Possible?]

40
41 "The Trilateral Commission is intended to be the vehicle for multinational consolidation of the commercial and banking
42 interests by seizing control of the political government of the United States. The Trilateral Commission represents a skillful,
43 coordinated effort to seize control and consolidate the four centers of power political, monetary, intellectual and ecclesiastical.
44 What the Trilateral Commission intends is to create a worldwide economic power superior to the political governments of 45 the nation states involved. As managers and creators of the system ,they will rule the future."

46 [U.S. Senator Barry Goldwater in his 1964 book: With No Apologies]

47
48 "The powers of financial capitalism had another far reaching aim, nothing less than to create a world system of financial 49 control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole. This 50 system was to be controlled in a feudalist fashion by the central banks of the world acting in concert, by secret agreements,
51 arrived at in frequent private meetings and conferences. The apex of the system was the Bank for International Settlements
52 in Basle, Switzerland, a private bank owned and controlled by the worlds' central banks which were themselves private 53 corporations. The growth of financial capitalism made possible a centralization of world economic control and use of this 54 power for the direct benefit of financiers and the indirect injury of all other economic groups."

55 [Tragedy and Hope: A History of The World in Our Time (Macmillan Company, 1966.) Professor Carroll Quigley of 56 Georgetown University, highly esteemed by his former student, William Jefferson Blythe Clinton]

1 "The Council on Foreign Relations is "the establishment." Not only does it have influence and power in key decision-making
2 positions at the highest levels of government to apply pressure from above, but it also announces and uses individuals and
3 groups to bring pressure from below, to justify the high level decisions for converting the U.S. from a sovereign Constitutional
4 Republic into a servile member state of a one-world dictatorship."
5 [Former Congressman John Rarick 1971]
6

7 "The directors of the CFR (Council on Foreign Relations) make up a sort of Presidium for that part of the Establishment that 8 guides our destiny as a nation."
9 [The Christian Science Monitor, September 1, 1961]
10

11 "The New World Order will have to be built from the bottom up rather than from the top down...but in the end run around 12 national sovereignty, eroding it piece by piece will accomplish much more than the old fashioned frontal assault."
13 [CFR member Richard Gardner, writing in the April 1974 issue of the CFR's journal, Foreign Affairs]
14

15 "The planning of UN can be traced to the 'secret steering committee' established by Secretary [of State Cordell] Hull in 16 January 1943. All of the members of this secret committee, with the exception of Hull, a Tennessee politician, were members
17 of the Council on Foreign Relations. They saw Hull regularly to plan, select, and guide the labors of the [State] Department's 18 Advisory Committee. It was, in effect, the coordinating agency for all the State Department's postwar planning."
19 [Professors Laurence H. Shoup and William Minter, writing in their study of the CFR, "Imperial Brain Trust: The CFR and 20 United States Foreign Policy." (Monthly Review Press, 1977).]
21

22 "The most powerful clique in these (CFR) groups have one objective in common: they want to bring about the surrender of 23 the sovereignty and the national independence of the U.S. They want to end national boundaries and racial and ethnic loyalties
24 supposedly to increase business and ensure world peace. What they strive for would inevitably lead to dictatorship and loss
25 of freedoms by the people. The CFR was founded for "the purpose of promoting disarmament and submergence of U.S.
26 sovereignty and national independence into an all-powerful one-world government."
27 [Harpers, July 1958]
28

29 "The old world order changed when this war-storm broke. The old international order passed away as suddenly, as 30 unexpectedly, and as completely as if it had been wiped out by a gigantic flood, by a great tempest, or by a volcanic eruption.
31 The old world order died with the setting of that day's sun and a new world order is being born while I speak, with birth-
32 pangs so terrible that it seems almost incredible that life could come out of such fearful suffering and such overwhelming 33 sorrow."
34 [Nicholas Murray Butler, in an address delivered before the Union League of Philadelphia, Nov. 27, 1915]
35

36 "The peace conference has assembled. It will make the most momentous decisions in history, and upon these decisions will 37 rest the stability of the new world order and the future peace of the world."
38 [M. C. Alexander, Executive Secretary of the American Association for International Conciliation, in a subscription letter for 39 the periodical International Conciliation (1919)]
40

41 "If there are those who think we are to jump immediately into a new world order, actuated by complete understanding and 42 brotherly love, they are doomed to disappointment. If we are ever to approach that time, it will be after patient and persistent
43 effort of long duration. The present international situation of mistrust and fear can only be corrected by a formula of equal 44 status, continuously applied, to every phase of international contacts, until the cobwebs of the old order are brushed out of 45 the minds of the people of all lands."
46 [Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, president of the World Federation of Education Associations (August 1927), quoted in the book
47 International Understanding: Agencies Educating for a New World (1931)]
48

49 "... when the struggle seems to be drifting definitely towards a world social democracy, there may still be very great delays
50 and disappointments before it becomes an efficient and beneficent world system. Countless people ... will hate the new world
51 order ... and will die protesting against it. When we attempt to evaluate its promise, we have to bear in mind the distress of a 52 generation or so of malcontents, many of them quite gallant and graceful-looking people."
53 [H. G. Wells, in his book entitled The New World Order (1939)]
54

55 "The term Internationalism has been popularized in recent years to cover an interlocking financial, political, and economic 56 world force for the purpose of establishing a World Government. Today Internationalism is heralded from pulpit and platform
57 as a 'League of Nations' or a 'Federated Union' to which the United States must surrender a definite part of its National

1 Sovereignty. The World Government plan is being advocated under such alluring names as the 'New International Order,'
2 'The New World Order,' 'World Union Now,' 'World Commonwealth of Nations,' 'World Community,' etc. All the terms have 3 the same objective; however, the line of approach may be religious or political according to the taste or training of the 4 individual."

31 "There are some plain common-sense considerations applicable to all these attempts at world planning. They can be briefly
32 stated: 1. To talk of blueprints for the future or building a world order is, if properly understood, suggestive, but it is also 33 dangerous. Societies grow far more truly than they are built. A constitution for a new world order is never like a blueprint for 34 a skyscraper."

49 underlying concepts and aspirations of national sovereignty truly meaningful through the federal approach.'"

1 "He [President Nixon] spoke of the talks as a beginning, saying nothing more about the prospects for future contacts and

4
5 "If instant world government, Charter review, and a greatly strengthened International Court do not provide the answers,
6 what hope for progress is there? The answer will not satisfy those who seek simple solutions to complex problems, but it
7 comes down essentially to this: The hope for the foreseeable lies, not in building up a few ambitious central institutions of 8 universal membership and general jurisdiction as was envisaged at the end of the last war, but rather in the much more
9 decentralized, disorderly and pragmatic process of inventing or adapting institutions of limited jurisdiction and selected
10 membership to deal with specific problems on a case-by-case basis ... In short, the 'house of world order' will have to be built
11 from the bottom up rather than from the top down. It will look like a great 'booming, buzzing confusion,' to use William
12 James' famous description of reality, but an end run around national sovereignty, eroding it piece by piece, will accomplish 13 much more than the old-fashioned frontal assault."

15
16 "The existing order is breaking down at a very rapid rate, and the main uncertainty is whether mankind can exert a positive
17 role in shaping a new world order or is doomed to await collapse in a passive posture. We believe a new order will be born

45 "We can see beyond the present shadows of war in the Middle East to a new world order where the strong work together to

33 "For a long time I felt that FDR had developed many thoughts and ideas that were his own to benefit this country, the United 34 States. But, he didn't. Most of his thoughts, his political ammunition, as it were, were carefully manufactured for him in 35 advanced by the Council on Foreign Relations-One World Money group. Brilliantly, with great gusto, like a fine piece of 36 artillery, he exploded that prepared "ammunition" in the middle of an unsuspecting target, the American people, and thus 37 paid off and returned his internationalist political support. The UN is but a long-range, international banking apparatus clearly 38 set up for financial and economic profit by a small group of powerful One-World revolutionaries, hungry for profit and power.
39 The depression was the calculated 'shearing' of the public by the World Money powers, triggered by the planned sudden
40 shortage of supply of call money in the New York money market....The One World Government leaders and their ever close

45
46 "I believe that if the people of this nation fully understood what Congress has done to them over the past forty-nine years,

25 THE ALLEGEDLY "FREE" AND SO-CALLED "WATCHDOG" PRESS ...

"I love America more than any other country in this world; and, exactly for this reason, I insist on the right to criticize her perpetually."

[James Baldwin]

"In March, 1915, the J.P. Morgan interests, the steel, shipbuilding, and powder interest, and their subsidiary organizations, got together 12 men high up in the newspaper world and employed them to select the most influential newspapers in the United States and sufficient number of them to control generally the policy of the daily press....They found it was only necessary to purchase the control of 25 of the greatest papers. An agreement was reached; the policy of the papers was bought, to be paid for by the month; an editor was furnished for each paper to properly supervise and edit information regarding the questions of preparedness, militarism, financial policies, and other things of national and international nature considered vital to the interests of the purchasers."

[U.S. Congressman Oscar Callaway, 1917]

[Former NBC news president Rubin Frank]

"An independent press does not exist in America except perhaps in small country towns; journalists know it and I know it; not one of them dares to express a sincere opinion; if they do so, they know beforehand that it will never be printed. I am paid 150 dollars monthly in order that I should not put my ideas in the newspaper for which I write and that I should keep them to myself. Others are paid similar salaries for a similar service. If I succeeded in having my opinions published in a single issue of my news-paper, I should lose my post in twenty-four hours. The man who would be insane enough to give frank expression to his thoughts would soon find himself in the streets on the look-out for another occupation. It is the duty of New York journalists to lie, to threaten, to bow down to the feet of Mammon, and to sell their country and their race for their salary, that is to say, for their daily bread ... We are the tools and the vassals of the rich who keep in the background; we are puppets; they pull the strings and we dance. Our time, our talent, our life, our abilities, all are the property of these men. We are intellectual prostitutes."

[John Swinton, former chief of staff for the New York Times, when asked in 1953 to give a simple toast before the New York Press Club, stunned a roomful of admiring peers into total silence with the preceding remarks (as reported in the January, 1993 issue of The National Educator, and also quoted in the book "Pure Sociology" by Professor Lester T. Ward)]

"The People cannot be safe without information. When the press is free, and every man is able to read, all is safe."

[Thomas Jefferson]

"We are grateful to the Washington Post, the New York Times, Time Magazine and other great publications whose directors have attended our meetings and respected their promise of discretion for almost forty years ... It would have been impossible for us to develop our plan for the world if we had been subject to the bright lights of publicity during those years. But, the world is now more sophisticated and prepared to march towards a world government. The supranational sovereignty of an intellectual elite and world bankers is surely preferable to the national auto-determination practiced in past centuries."

[David Rockefeller, in an address given to Catherine Graham, publisher of The Washington Post and other media luminaries in attendance in Baden Baden, Germany at the June 1991 annual meeting of the world elite Bilderberg Group]

"We are going to impose our agenda on the coverage by dealing with issues and subjects that we choose to deal with."

[Richard M. Cohen, former Senior Producer of CBS political news]

"Our job is to give people not what they want, but what we decide they ought to have."

[Richard Salant, former President of CBS News]

". . . this vast right-wing conspiracy conspiring against my husband since the day he announced for President. A few journalists have kind of caught on to it and explained it, but it has not yet been fully revealed to the American public."

[Hillar1 Clinton on NBC's "Today Show" (Jan. 27, 1998)]

26 IMPORTANCE OF VOTING

"We electors have an important constitutional power placed in our hands: we have a check upon two branches of the legislature, as each branch has upon the other two; the power I mean of electing at stated periods, one branch, which branch

1 has the power of electing another. It becomes necessary to every subject then, to be in some degree a statesman: and to 2 examine and judge for himself of the tendencies of political principles and measures. "

3 [John Adams, The Papers of John Adams, Robert J. Taylor, ed. (Cambridge: Belknap Press, 1977), Vol. 1, p. 81]

4
5 "Let each citizen remember at the moment he is offering his vote that he is not making a present or a compliment to please
6 an individual--or at least that he ought not so to do; but that he is executing one of the most solemn trusts in human society
7 for which he is accountable to God and his country. "

11 "When you become entitled to exercise the right of voting for public officers, let it be impressed on your mind that God
12 commands you to choose for rulers, "just men who will rule in the fear of God." The preservation of government depends on 13 the faithful discharge of this duty; if the citizens neglect their duty and place unprincipled men in office, the government will
14 soon be corrupted; laws will be made, not for the public good so much as for selfish or local purposes; corrupt or incompetent
15 men will be appointed to execute the laws; the public revenues will be squandered on unworthy men; and the rights of the 16 citizens will be violated or disregarded. If a republican government fails to secure public prosperity and happiness, it must be 17 because the citizens neglect the divine commands, and elect bad men to make and administer the laws."
